Civil Rights & Civil Liberties Litigation

Sheldon H. Nahmod

A guide for lawyers, judges, and all others who must deal with 42 USC §1983, a significant federal civil rights statute which accounts for a substantial portion of all civil rights and civil liberties litigation. The book examines and analyzes the positions taken by the courts on every aspect of suits brought under this statute. Section 1983 provides a vehicle for obtaining redress for violation of any constitutional right; it does not create rights by itself. Because of this, the Guide concentrates on the procedural and technical issues common to all §1983 litigation, instead of trying to catalog or discuss all the numerous different deprivations of rights that can lead to a §1983 suit. However, since substantive constitutional law is important, a Table of Leading Constitutional Law Cases has been included. The Table serves to guide interested readers into the particular constitutional law areas which arise in the constant stream of §1983 situations.

1 volume, $55.00 plus $1.50 postage and handling. 30 day return privilege. Add appropriate sales tax. Approximately 375 pages, hardbound, 1979 edition, periodic supplementation is planned.

Sheldon H. Nahmod is a Professor and Associate Dean at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law. He is a scholar holding LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Harvard, and previously a practicing attorney in Illinois. Professor Nahmod has written several legal articles on this and other topics.

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF JURISPRUDENCE

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF JURISPRUDENCE is published annually.

The JOURNAL is an international journal of legal philosophy dedicated to the critical examination of the significance of natural law for our times. The search for universal standards derived from the nature of man has never been more important than it is today. This is particularly so in areas which relate directly to the most basic human rights, where the law has failed in its mission to protect those rights. Here and in other areas, the need for sound and enduring analysis of contemporary problems and their controlling principles is evident. To pursue this end with success, we try to publish scholarly contributions from various points of view—anthropological, sociological, theological, historical, and analytical. The JOURNAL has been international in its contributors, catholic in its range of views.

What People And Publications Are Saying About

Policy Review

The New Quarterly Journal of The Heritage Foundation

"My compliments on a highly professional job of magazine-making."

NORMAN COUSINS, Former Editor
Saturday Review, New York City

"You have obviously gotten off to a spectacular start, and if you can sustain the high quality of the articles in the first two issues you should move very quickly into the top rank of public policy journals."

CHRISTOPHER C. DeMUTH
Director, Regulatory Reform Project
J.F.K. School of Government, Harvard University

"Policy Review . . . contain(s) some of the most thoroughly researched articles published anywhere today . . . the magazine is must reading for anybody interested in governmental affairs."

CHUCK STONE
Columnist, Philadelphia Daily News

Policy Review articles are regularly abstracted or indexed in the leading social science indexing services, including ABC-Pol Sci, Cumulative Index to Periodicals, Current Contents/Social & Behavioral Sciences, Human Resources Abstracts, International Political Science Abstracts, The Journal of Economic Literature, Monthly Periodical Index, Public Affairs Information Service, Public Policy Studies Documents, Sage Public Administration Abstracts, Sage Urban Studies Abstracts, Social Sciences Citation Index, United Nations Current Bibliographic Information, United States Political Science Documents and Urban Affairs Abstracts.

LIBRARY JOURNAL, the largest and most comprehensive magazine in the library field, recently (May 1, 1978) evaluated Policy Review. Their reviewer wrote that Policy Review's ". . . articles, by intellectuals of both liberal and conservative persuasion, show a definite leaning toward the [view] that the less overt public policy, the better. . . the journal has featured such writers as Daniel Moynihan, Ernest van den Haag, Walter Williams, and Robert Conquest. . . the remainder are familiar from such publications as Foreign Affairs and Commentary. The editor hopes to have a publication which features 'clear English' and 'verve and style.' He succeeds."

Subscriptions: $12 for one year, $21 for two years and $30 for three years; add $5 a year for foreign air-speeded delivery.

Policy Review, 513 C St., N.E. Washington, D.C. 20002 (202-546-4400).
