The Law School

Monday Morning Update

March 26 - April 1

Hello Notre Dame Law School,

I hope everyone had a great weekend and a great Barrister's Ball! If you saw me cutting up the dance floor with my girlfriend, you are welcome for the free lessons. I thought it was a really great event and I cannot give more props to the Social Committee of the SBA, which includes Luis Vargas, Lauren Andrini, Kristine Baker, Caitlin Galasso, & Vincent Salem, for planning this event all year! You guys did a great job and I am sure everyone had a great time.

The Law School seems to be getting busier and busier with each passing week and it is around this time of year where stress levels get kicked up a notch. This is normal, but it is important to remember to calm down. If you have the Moot Court tournament, papers due, maybe a midterm, or even if you're planning a huge variety show that was way more complicated than you thought originally, it is vital to get some sleep and take each day as it comes. There is still a mountain of time left to get ready for finals and achieve the success which you seek. Maybe take this week to meet with a professor or catch up on that reading you missed while you were watching March Madness. Maybe crack that spine of your Property E&E and find out what the heck the Rule of Perpetuities is. Or you know what? Maybe go to that Variety Show you have been hearing so much about and have a good laugh with your classmates on Tuesday night. The world is your oyster.

On that note, here are some musings:

1. Well we have our Four. Some surprises this year and some familiar faces. The biggest news, I think, is the story of the back to back semi-final appearances by our very own Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. Confused? You shouldn't be. The Irish Hockey team has made their second consecutive Frozen Four and will lace them up against Michigan this Thursday in St. Paul. In what has arguably been the best season in Notre Dame's history, the team will chase that elusive first national championship after winning two very entertaining games this weekend vs. Michigan Tech and Providence. The Big Ten is represented by Ohio State, Michigan, and Notre Dame with Minnesota Duluth rounding out the semifinalists. This is Notre Dame's best chance to capture glory and I can't wait to see how we do.
2. In other Notre Dame athletic news, the Irish Women's Basketball team made their 7th Elite Eight in the last eight years. They are going to play Oregon tonight with the chance to likely face UConn in the Final Four. The women have only lost one game since January 14th and have been playing better and better down the stretch. Let's go Irish!
3. The other Final Four is also set with power-programs Kansas and Villanova, always-the-bridesmaid-never-the-bride Michigan, and everyone's favorite Cinderella, Loyola Chicago making the trip down to San Antonio. It will be a great weekend of match-ups and I am excited to see this horrible tournament come to close so I don't have to think about college basketball for a while. Still not over it, if you are wondering...

Predictions: Loyola Chicago over Michigan because why not? Villanova over Kansas because Bill Self can't keep winning these close games. In the All-Catholic School Championship, Villanova over Loyola Chicago as the clock hits midnight.

4. If you have not already heard, the Father Mike Variety Show will take place this Tuesday at 7:00pm at Legends. The doors will open at 6:30pm and I would get there early in order to get a good seat! There are only about 30 tickets left so be sure to pick yours up TODAY if you have not done so already. They are being sold at the SBA Store for $12. If there are any tickets left tomorrow, they will be sold for $15 at the door. Legends will have a cash bar and we will be serving various appetizers with admission. The Father Mike Committee has done an amazing job putting this show together for you and we have perhaps the best show yet. I can't wait to see you guys on Tuesday!

Lots of love,
Drew
