RESUMES OF CONTRIBUTORS

All contributors to this volume are second year law students at the University of Notre Dame and members of the student-run Legislative Bureau. Description and objectives of the Legislative Bureau follow the resume section.

John R. Cowie, Jr., BA, is a resident of Adams, Massachusetts, and a second year student. He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts, and a veteran of the U.S. Navy, where he served as a pilot. His concern over the inequities of the property tax exemption for the elderly lead him to seek reform through legislation in this area.

Dr. Lee Ford, Ph.D., is a resident of Butler, Indiana, and a second year student. She is a graduate of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio; has done graduate study in biology, botany, cytogenetics and statistics; and is a member of Phi Beta Phi Honor Society. Dr. Ford is a former department head and full professor in the field of biology, has done research in this field, and is credited with over five hundred (500) publications in the scientific area. Her experience of working some fifteen (15) years with blind children guided her to establish legislation on the rights of the blind.

Richard A. Kelly, BBA, is a resident of New Rochelle, New York, and a second year student. He is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame; after previously attending Northeastern University where he participated on the track and cross-country teams; at Notre Dame he participated in Army ROTC and was a member of the Beta Gamma Sigma Honor Business Fraternity; graduating with a Bachelors in Business Administration, cum laude. Rick plans to practice in New York and his interests lie in the field of Corporate and International Law. His summer experiences working in retail establishments led him to attempt to solve the merchants' shoplifting problems with this legislation.

John R. Kowalczyk, BA, is a native and resident of Fort Wayne, Indiana; and a second year student. He is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame; where he participated in the Glee Club and Army ROTC; graduating with a BA, cum laude, in Philosophy. John is currently pursuing an M.S. in Business Administration at Saint Francis College during the summer breaks. He plans to practice in the Fort Wayne area and his interests lie in Corporation and Property Law. His four (4) summers with the County Surveyor of Allen County developed his awareness of the need for legislative reform in the Indiana Drainage Code.

Michael P. McWeeny, BA, is a resident of McLean, Virginia; and a second year student. He is a graduate of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia; where he participated in the Young Democrats and the Political Science organizations on campus and Army ROTC; graduating with double major BA in Political Science and American History. Mike plans to enter general practice in Virginia upon graduation. His deep concern with humane legislation led him to develop this model bill on Stray Pets.

Bernard P. Maloy has lived in Colorado, New Jersey, and Washington, D. C. He attended Wheeling College, a Jesuit liberal arts college in Wheeling, West Virginia, where he majored in History. While at Wheeling, Mr. Maloy participated in the intramural sports program for four years; was Sophomore Class Treasurer and a member of the Student Government; was a member of the Junior Week Committee; was a member of the Students for Intercultural Understanding; and was Chairman of the Senior Week Committee. He was on the Dean's List for three semesters, and graduated a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, the National Jesuit Honor Society. Currently a second year law student at the University of Notre Dame, Mr. Maloy lives in Mishawaka, Indiana with his wife, the former Miss Nora Lynn Alton of Falls Church, Virginia.
