The Law School

Monday Morning Update

February 5 - February 11

Hello Notre Dame Law School,

What a game! The Philadelphia Eagles are (finally) your Super Bowl Champions. After years of heartbreak and Andy Reid failing in the playoffs, the Eagles finally brought home the Lombardi Trophy to Philly. Philly is most likely still burning their great city to the ground with all laws seemingly suspended until further notice. The videos online of the mob destruction are addicting. I actually found myself listening to the police scanner at different points after the win. The highlight included one officer screaming, "THEY ARE TRYING TO RIP THE GUITAR OFF THE HARD ROCK!" I can't imagine any work is going to get done tomorrow, maybe all week. But the Eagles fans absolutely deserve this. It's funny, after a team finally wins a championship after a long drought (see: Cubs/Cavaliers) I always picture my New York Jets winning the Super Bowl and the emotions that would follow. I imagine it would just be uncontrollable crying. Like crying so hard I throw-up. It will likely never happen in my lifetime but I dream...

Another interesting statistic that came from the Eagles win is that Bill Belichick has now lost 3 Super Bowls, not many coaches have lost more. The Patriots have actually lost 5 Super Bowls now, tied for the most ever. I'll be honest, I had a very large smirk when the clock hit 0:00. Can you guys feel it too? It's ending. The Patriots reign of cheating to championships is coming to an end. No more seeing Tom Brady screaming at his receivers for not running the right routes. No more seeing Bob Kraft's annoying "power" shirts in the owner's box. No more of this. It's ending.

Here are some Monday Musings:

1. The Notre Dame Law School Bowling League was rocked with scandal this week. There are rumors surrounding the league that there are teams "misreporting" their final scores. I can't even begin to explain how disappointed I am with these rumors. Where is the honesty? Where are the morals? Is this where we are as a law school? Cheating on such a low-stakes event? I hope that these rumors are not true and we all act like the professional and honest lawyers we are being trained as. My bowling team put up a good showing this week and I would like us to be appropriately rewarded for our play. I bowled a 134 this week by the way. Big Red is almost all the way back.

2. The Super Bowl ads last night were pretty good. My highlights were the Tide ads (Sheriff Hopper stole the show), the Amazon Alexa ad with Gordon Ramsey, Cardi B, and Sir Anthony Hopkins (to name a few), and the "Visit Australia" ad. Eli Manning and Odell Beckham's ad is getting a lot of attention, but I'm not buying into it. While it would have been hilarious and well-done if it was any other team (besides the Patriots) I just didn't feel any connection to the overrated-QB and whiny Wide Receiver (sorry, Giants fans). I also loved the Olympic ads. I said last week that I was not really excited for the Olympics, but those ads got me very excited for this week. Go USA!

3. The Father-Mike Committee is off and running planning this year's show. We already have some great ideas and acts lining up to perform. We are always looking for good/new ideas for videos and skits, so if you guys have any good ideas or funny videos please feel free to reach out to me. I will be sending out information on how to sign-up for talent acts this week, so be on the lookout.

Lots of love,
Drew

Mass Schedule

For the Spring 2018 semester, Masses will be offered in the St. Thomas More Chapel as follows:

- Monday-Thursday, 5:15 PM
- Friday, 12:30 PM
- Sunday, 4:30 PM

Additionally, the chapel is in need of Sacristans, Eucharistic Ministers, and Lectors for Daily Masses this semester. If interested, please email Jonathan Schall at jschall@nd.edu.

STATE OF THE LAW SCHOOL SPEECH

Dean Newton's State of the Law School is on February 12th at 5:15 pm in the Courtroom. Come hear the latest about NDLS and topics of interest from our Dean. Afterwards, a dessert and coffee reception will follow at the commons.

If you have any questions or topics that you would like to hear at the event, please feel free to email Athena Aherrera by noon on February 5th.

This is a very exciting opportunity to learn about NDLS and all students, faculty, and staff are welcome to attend. Thank you and we look forward to seeing you there!

SUMMER FELLOWSHIP OPPORTUNITY

Program on Church, State & Society offers $10,000 Summer Fellowships

Notre Dame Law School's Program on Church, State & Society will award four summer fellowships, in the amount of $10,000 each, to students working for a religious institution in a legal capacity for the summer of 2018.

Read here for more information. The deadline to apply is Feb. 16.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITY

CCHR Summer Fellowship

Each year The Center for Civil and Human Rights awards a $5,000 stipend for legal work in a public interest organization that promotes civil or human rights, and/or the enforcement of federal rights on behalf of underrepresented minorities. Open to 1L and 2L Notre Dame law students.

Applications are now being accepted for Summer 2018. Application deadline is Monday, March 19, 2018. More information can be found at: humanrights.nd.edu/fellowship

Christian Legal Society - Retreat Opportunity

Christian Legal Society has partnered with Generous Giving to host a retreat about the virtue of generosity. It will take place in South Bend, February 9-10. The time commitment is less than 24 hours, and food and housing will be taken care of. A few NDLS students attended this retreat last year through their church and thought it was amazing, so CLS decided to host one of our own to give the opportunity to all NDLS. Additional details and registration available here: https://generousgiving.org/jog-event/jog?eventid=a06A000001Tqyw2&tfa_3=a06A000001Tqyw2

Introducing Stella Miller, Your Wellness Consultant

The Law School is pleased to announce the arrival of Stella Miller, who is a Wellness Consultant dedicated exclusively to law school students. Students in all programs are able to meet with her on a confidential basis (consistent with FERPA) for support on any personal wellness issue. Wellness sessions can provide an opportunity for empowerment, insight and progress in clarifying and achieving personal goals. Stella has extensive experience in providing wellness support to university students. She is joining us from McGill University where she directed a student wellness center. She completed her graduate work in higher education and counselling psychology at the University of Toronto and the University of Calgary.

Stella is excited to work with you and to help you connect, engage, and thrive personally and professionally!

You may contact Stella directly at stella.miller@nd.edu or book an appointment at www.calendly.com/stellamiller

Additionally, throughout the semester, we encourage you to be mindful of the relaxation resources available at the McDonald Center for Student Well-Being. These include yoga, Koru Mindfulness, the Sleep Program, and restorative spaces like the Living Room, Break Room, and Fort. Health support services are always available at University Health Services and the University Counseling Center.
