The retired Chief Justice of the United States, Earl Warren, will deliver our first Civil Rights Lectures at 8 p.m. this Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in the C.C.E. Auditorium. A reception for the Chief Justice and members of the local bench and bar will follow the first lecture. Tickets for the lectures will be available for students and their wives or husbands, from the Law School Secretary, beginning today, Monday, April 3. Prof. Beytagh is chairman.

Professor Edward A. Goerner of the Department of Government and International Studies gave the annual Natural Law Institute lecture, March 24 in the C.C.E. His talk, "Aristocracy and Natural Right," will be the lead article in this year's American Journal of Jurisprudence. Professors Iredell Jenkins (U. Alabama) and Henry Veach (Northwestern), both A.J.J. Advisory Editors, were here for the occasion.

Father Bill Lewers, our 1971-72 London director, is here to help plan next year's program. Prof. Booker, the 1972-73 director, will be here next week to join in the planning and to talk with our students on trial practice, products liability, and the life of a lawyer in busy Palm Beach....Mr. Linden Thorn, of the St. Joseph County Council for the Retarded, and Prof. Murdock conferred last week with officers of the National Association for Retarded children, in Arlington, Texas; and with various federal officials in Washington, all in connection with our proposal on advocacy for the developmentally disabled.

Book report: Asst. Dean Foschio's paper, "Operations Research in Criminal Justice: A Legal View," will be presented in Pittsburgh this month and published in the proceedings of the Pittsburgh Conference on Modelling....Prof. Campfield represented us in a conference on the training and use of paralegals in law practice, last summer at Denver University. The proceedings of that conference (New Careers in Law: II) have now been published by the American Bar Association....Prof. Chroust's "Aristotle: New Light on His Life and on Some of His Lost Works" (2 volumes) will be published this year by Routledge and Keegan-Paul, London.

Al Celio, '73L, is the new director of our Legal Aid and Defender Ass'n; he is an M.B.A./J.D. student and a graduate of Alfred University....Congratulations to Pat Barry, and to his wife, on Stephanie Jeanne, who was born March 19....Mrs. Grace Olivarez, '70L, deputy director of the President's Commission on Population, was one of the dissenters from the Commission's recommendations on abortion.

Kathy Cekanski, Tom Kronk, and Tony Polumbo, all '73L, directed a superbly successful spring banquet and law ball March 18....Kathy is also our single-student housing officer for next year; my wife Nancy, Mary Campfield, Lucy Estrada and Donna D'Aquero are working on married-student housing.

Richard P. Byrne of our Advisory Council has been appointed to the Superior Court of Los Angeles County....George B. Morris, Jr., '39, '40L, former president of the Notre Dame Law Ass'n, is now Vice President in charge of Industrial Relations for General Motors Corporation....Prof. John T. Noonan, Jr., formerly of our Faculty, will give the Oliver Wendell Holmes Lectures at Harvard April 25 and 27....Asst. Dean Foschio participated March 22 in a conference in New York City on modelling theory; it was sponsored by the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers....Congratulations and best wishes to Joe and Ann Van Jura; Ann is from New Zealand; Joe met her while studying in our London program....John Burns, '74L, and Tony Polumbo and Mike Cunningham, both '73L, are the student members of the new Placement Committee....Bill Zloch, '74L, and Gregg Zive and Mike O'Conn both '73L, are working with Dean Link and me on campus facilities to help us deal with the building remodelers next year....Tom Lippert and Mary Drolet, both '74L, are the new interim officers of our International Law Society.

Professors Beytagh and Dutile have done recent guest shots before the first-year class at the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing -- both in the ethics course conducted by David Deka, '73L....Steve Stegich, '72L, spoke to our law wives March 23 on pollution (of all kinds)....Congratulations to Prof. Godfrey Henry, formerly of our Faculty, who became a citizen of the United States on March 21 in Detroit.

Our sympathy to J. W. Mullin, Jr., of Los Angeles, a valued member of Advisory Council, on the death of his wife March 16.

Ten of our students attended the national convention of the Black American Law Students Association in Chicago March 16 and 17; Jock Smith and Clarence Martin, both '73L, were our official delegates.

Happy Dyngus Day to all Poles and those who merely aspire to be Poles.

Congratulations to the winners of the 1971-72 Moot Court semi-finals: Maree Russo, Marcia Lippincott, Greg Larson, Ken Holland, Phil Cardarella, and Paul Peldyak.

Pre-registration was last week for the second- and first-year classes. We will offer 85 courses in the Law School next year, in addition to clinical and directed- readings programs and courses open to our students in the Graduate School, and the curriculum in London. All of the basics are in the curriculum, along with elementary alternatives (admiralty, social legislation, community property, legal counseling) and some exotica (African law, environmental law, Soviet law, minority business planning, law and technology, international trade and investment). Our faculty bears one of the heaviest teaching loads on campus to make this variety possible. Many thanks for great planning to the good efforts of the student and Faculty members of the Committee on Law School Policy, and to the administrative staff.

Congratulations to the Mike Crowes (girl, Molly), and to the Steve Stegichs (girl, Stephanie)... and to Ed Sheridan, '72L, just back from a stellar tour with the concert band.

Travelogue: Prof. Beytagh, in Indianapolis to represent us at the annual meeting of the Bar Association of the Seventh Federal Circuit, May 7-10; he will be in the Virgin Islands this week to advise the reapportionment commission there....Prof. Murdock, in New York City April 26, as a participant in the dedication symposium of the new Mental Retardation Institute....Prof. Murphy, May 18 and 19, in New York City for the A.B.A. National Institute on Current Legal Aspects of Doing Business in the Far East....I will be on the Universal Notre Dame Night circuit in the Midwest this week and on two later dates; I will be joined by Larry DiNardo, '74L, April 24 in Fort Wayne. I spoke to the luncheon session last Thursday of a state-wide advocacy workshop in Indianapolis.

Book Report: Prof. Osakwe's "The Participation of the Soviet Union in Universal International Organizations," was published last week by A.W. Sijthoff in The Netherlands....Prof. Moo's "Credit Insurance Revisited: A Reply to the NAIC Staff," was published last month.

Visitors: Thomas Singer, Alexander Lyoshir, '53L, Dempsey Cox, and Bill Albright, '67L, all of the South Bend Bar, in Prof. Broderick's Advanced Trial Seminar....Charles Morse, C.L.U., in both Property III sections....Prof. Frank E. Booker, our 1972-73 London program director, here from Palm Beach to talk to torts and other classes and to plan next year's foreign program with our students and with Father Bill Lewers, who is temporarily
Asst. Dean Foschio is chairman of the special-gifts committee for PACE, a private organization to aid prisoners; on the other side of his conscience, he is responsible for funding for clinical programs which place our students in prosecutors offices in Northern Indiana. The latter of these is a $12,386 Criminal Justice grant for the program in LaPorte County. He was finally, on a local TV panel show with local judges and lawyers, April 11, on the local courts discussing the problem of court delay.

Will the person who had "Teach Yourself Spanish" sent to the Law School, please come in and claim it....Dr. Lee Ford, '72L, is state advisor for Dr. Otis Bowen's Booster Club; Dr. Bowen is running for governor.... Congratulations to Glen Anger, '72L, the first May graduate in his class to pass the bar examination (Rhode Island)....Hoynes Forum this week (Thursday, April 20, 11:15 a.m.) will be Dr. Martin Feferman, South Bend neuro-surgeon, discussing medical testimony in trials....A team from the Indiana State Bar Association will be here for the Forum on April 27, to discuss career opportunities for lawyers; Prof. Campfield is chairman.... A page from the 1931-32 Scholastic, describing our building and its numerals and castings, is now framed and in the hall outside my office; Jim Crowley, '72L, dug that out of the Archives for us.

We have had 139 applications to date from members of minority groups. Admissions Committee's action on them breaks down this way:
