A new series of lectures on the practice of law began Tuesday with Prof. Crutchfield and will continue through the fall with lawyers from diverse areas of practice and various kinds of communities, along with Mr. Stephan, Fathers Hesburgh and Burtchaell, Congressman Brademas, Judge Beamer, Jr., and others. The series focuses on the moral life of a lawyer and is a part of the first-year course, Introduction to the Legal Profession. Our guests will normally use the 10 A.M. hour Tuesday; all members of the community are welcome.

Justice Thurgood Marshall has agreed to preside over our final Moot Court arguments in February... Classes will begin in London in late September with 28 students--13 from Notre Dame--under Prof. Booker and seven British and American teachers; Phil Morse, '75L, just back from there, filmed, edited, and presented (at Orientation) films of legal life in London. We will be in new quarters there this year (in Kensington); Prof. Booker, son Tom, and a hired lorry spent much of August moving from Bloomsbury Square... A warm welcome to our two new research associates--Judge Taketaka Nakagawa of the Tokyo District Court and Dr. Roman Tokarczyk, a Polish lawyer here to study and write on the natural law.

Ass't. Dean Foschio reports victory in two recent federal appellate cases prepared by the Appellate Advocacy Seminar--Terry v. Gray which involved first-amendment rights of homosexual prisoners in Wisconsin, and was briefed by Pat Perry, '74L, and John Lynch, '75L (John and Prof. Beytagh handled oral argument); and U.S. v. Nix, a direct criminal appeal involving the issue of specific intent in a charge of attempted escape. John Lancaster and Helen Milano, both '74L, briefed the case, and John and Dean Foschio handled oral argument.... John and his wife, Rickie Enz, '73L, are in Washington now, where Rickie is an I.R.S. lawyer and John works on appeals in the V.A.... Prof. Rice is in Rumania this week, participating in a U.N. conference on population... Congratulations to Maxine Tomczak, '74L, and Frank Woelfling, '73L, soon to be married.... Get well wishes to Granville Cleveland the younger, who is recovering from rheumatic fever; to Rusty Long, '76L, who is seriously ill in the Mayo Clinic... and to Judge George N. Beamer, Sr., '29L, who is recovering from a heart attack.... Roosevelt Thomas, '76L, represented us last month in San Diego, at a national conference on legal representation of athletes.... Congratulations to Anna Marie and Tony Palumbo, '73L, Phoenix (Scott Ian, born August 8).

Tim Hartzer, '72L, has joined the A.B.A. staff in Washington, as a specialist in urban affairs... Pete Manown, '73L, is associated with a law firm in Stuttgart, Germany... Paul Jones and Chris Kule, both '74L, (January) were successful on the New York Bar examination; Paul is law clerk to Judge Matthew Jasen in the N.Y. Court of Appeals... Prof. Aleck Che-Mponda, who taught with us last year, participated in the summer law program at the Parker School, Columbia... Ceil Januszkwiecz, '74L, is law clerk to Judge Richard Wilbur, '62L, of the U.S. Tax Court... Welcome to Carol Gookin, new law school secretary, and Ann McInerney, new faculty secretary; and welcome back to Kay Donovan, faculty secretary... Dennis Owens, '75L, has been appointed law clerk to Judge Robert E. Seiler of the Missouri Supreme Court.
Our Indiana State Prison library project, Willie Lipscomb, '75L, reports, has produced more than 1,000 volumes for prisoner use— from unneeded library books here, members of the Faculty, and students. Our own library reports roughly 90,000 volumes new acquisitions last year were 3,483 (as compared with 2,586 in 1972–73), at a total cost of $73,100. Bob Lueck, '74L, is law clerk to Judge John F. Mendoza in Las Vegas. Greg Jahn and John Cariotto, both '74L, passed the bar examination in Nebraska. Congratulations to the Jim Alexanders, '73L, Miami (boy). Pete Loughlin and Joe McNeil, both '69L, are state chairmen of the National Institute of Municipal Health officers—Pete for New Hampshire (Portsmouth), Joe for Vermont (Burlington). Justice Douglas' dissenting opinion in the Detroit school integration case cites Prof. Glickstein's Stanford Law Review article on school financing. Prof. Kellenberg spent time in the Air Force, Prof. Rice in the Marine Corps, and Prof. Bauer in the Army, this summer; they exhibit wide diversity in military rank and privilege. Pat Broderick, '74L, is clerking for Chief Justice Benjamin Jones, Pennsylvania Supreme Court; Pat's father, Raymond, '35, is a federal district judge in that state. Prof. Stan Laughlin who taught in our C.L.E.O. Institute, is visiting professor this fall at the University of Hawaii.

Book report: Murdock, "Tax Shelter Securities," (Hastings Law Journal, Feb. 1974), will be reprinted by the Practicing Law Institute. Commissioner A.A. Sommer (of our Advisory Council), "The Emerging Responsibilities of the Securities Lawyer," and "Directors and the Federal Securities Laws," both in the C.C.H. Federal Securities Laws Reports. S.B.A. president Chauncey Veatch and Vice President Tom McGill, both '75L, represented us at the A.B.A. Law Student Division meeting in Chicago; Chauncey was elected chairman of the S.B.A. presidents' caucus. Congratulations to Ben and Joan Cittadino, '75L (girl, Julia Lee), Quinn and Mary Ann Frazier, '74L (boy), the Tom McGill's (boy), and the Pete Shirks, '75L (girl).

Assoc. Dean Link and I have entered on a division of the daily routine in the Dean's office which will permit me to teach six hours a week this semester. He will normally be in the office after lunch, and I will be here (except on Tuesdays) before lunch.
