UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

The Law School

Monday Morning Update

September 4 - September 10

Hello Notre Dame Law School,

Welcome to Georgia Week! For those of you who didn't see the Irish's big, however still not-as-impressive-as-Irish-fans-would-have-liked-because-we-can-never-have-nice-things win on Saturday, you're probably in good spirits this week. The Irish could quite possibly be ranked come Tuesday, setting up an EPIC showdown between two of the nation's most storied programs.

Fun fact that I will repeat 37x this week to anyone that will listen? This is UGA's first game north of the Mason-Dixon Line since 1965! How?!

The last time these two teams met? 1981 when UGA beat Notre Dame for the National Championship.

Cheapest ticket on Stub Hub? $420.

Most Expensive? $19,500.

South Bend will be packed with Georgia fans come Thursday night and this should be a really great weekend and hopefully a famous Irish win. Under the lights in South Bend; it doesn't get much better.

Here are some Monday Musings:

1. I'm officially #done with the DUO login. It has become the bane of my existence. I understand that it only takes a few seconds and provides security, but honestly, what would a hacker want to steal from me? Do they want to start paying off my loans? Does he want to scroll through dozens of "INDOCHINO" spam emails or "Investopedia - Word of the Day" emails that I told myself I would read to become more versed in business language, but never actually read? Every time I login to a school computer I let out a "ughhhh," take my phone out, hit the check, and wait. The whole process takes approx. 8 seconds, however when you add all that up, think about all the fire texts or tweets you could be sending.

2. I experienced and heard about a lot of Graduate students having trouble getting seats in our section on Saturday. Of course Notre Dame Stadium fixes one huge problem (lack of replay screen) but finds a way to still keep people from seeing it in all its glory. Friends of mine were literally told to go home because there was no room. If you thought the game against Temple was going to fill up quickly, just wait for this Saturday. I would suggest getting into the stadium before kickoff.

3. Good luck to everyone with interviews this week or decisions to make on your future! Talk to 3Ls and CDO office for any advice or helpful tips on who to navigate both processes.

4. In my effort to make the MMU great, fun, and informative for the student body, I did some polling this weekend to get people's feedback. Most of you let me know it was helpful and different than years past. However more than handful of you told me it was too long. First, on that, most of the people who told me it was too long were 2Ls and my initial response was along the lines of "Really?! After all the well-wishes and good lucks! I throw myself out there for you and I get a 'it's too long'?" To be honest, I was ready to stop wishing the 2Ls good with this difficult time of year. However, I am going to be bigger man here and will continue to do so for the time being. In the words of the great author, Homer, "I'll write as much as I want, because I know it's what you want and need."

Go Irish, Beat Dawgs. Go Hoos, Beat Hoosiers.

Lots of love,
Drew

GALILEE

Galilee! For 1Ls, transfer students and LLMs

You've heard a lot about "Public Interest Law" since coming to Notre Dame. Galilee, a 1-credit course where you get a chance to explore various public interest legal careers in the city of your choice, has some introductory events coming up.

This week, Galilee leaders will be dropping into legal writing sections to talk a little more about the program and answer a few questions.

Next Monday, September 11, at 12:30 in the Courtroom, there will be an introductory presentation by Professor Bob Jones and some law students who participated in the program. Mark your calendars!

If you have any questions, feel free to e-mail/hunt down Bill Green (wgreen2@nd.edu) or Emily Mankowski (emankows@nd.edu).

NOTRE DAME LAW ADMISSIONS INSTAGRAM

We are excited to introduce our new Instagram profile for Notre Dame Law School Admissions! You can follow us @NDLawAdmissions, and we would really appreciate if you would follow, like, and share our posts. Our primary purpose in using Instagram (and social media in general) is to connect with prospective students, applicants, and admitted students by telling the story of the student experience and offering advice throughout the application process. Please email Lauren Fleck at l.fleck@nd.edu if have any ideas or questions. And watch out because there may even been a student takeover in the future!

MOCK TRIAL COACHES NEEDED

Clay High School desperately needs 1-3 second- or third-year law students to help them with their mock trial program. If you have any interest, please contact Dianna Christopher at 574-393-4968; she is the Clay Mock Trial Adviser. Practices will begin in mid-September. Ms. Christopher is willing to work around schedules, so please call her if you have any interest. Thank you

1L OF THE WEEK

This week's 1L of the Week is Marcus Dessalgne! If you see him this week, grab this man a coffee.

Let's get to know Marcus a bit more, shall we? Thanks, Marcus!

Q: Where did you attend undergrad?

A: Georgetown University

Q: Where's your hometown?

A: Loudoun County, Virginia.

Q: What did you do before law school?

A: Conflicts Analyst at Hogan Lovells (s/o Harkesh).

Drew Side-Note: Harkesh is a ~~3L~~ 2L who also worked at Hogan Lovells before law school.

Q: What did you do this summer?

A: After retiring from the "cube life", I did some light traveling to the Bay Area, Lake Tahoe, and continued making Portland, Oregon less weird.

Ok now for the serious questions

Q: Do you know what AIM was and if so, what was your screenname?

A: I do, as it's where I learned the art of the flirt. Markeddown14 was the unfortunate SN.

Q: Do you find any moral dilemma with vegetarians eating animal crackers?

A: Yes, they are HIPPOcrites!

Drew Side-Note: I lolled.

Q: Who would play you in a movie about your life?

A: I would pull an Eminem in 8 Mile and play myself

Drew Side-Note: For my biopic, the obvious choices are either Channing Tatum or Charlie Hunnam, however I guess I would be OK with Domhnall Gleeson (famed actor in "Ex Machina" and "About Time", the best romantic comedy starring Rachel McAdams. Don't @ me).

HAVE A GREAT WEEK!

Submit content for next week's MMU!
