Monday Morning Update

April 24 - 30

Hello Notre Dame Law School,

I hope you all had a great weekend! Welcome to week 2 of my edition of the MMU, I hope you enjoyed the first one. Here are some Monday Musings:

1. I think outside of finals, registering for classes is the most stressful thing we do at law school. You have 10-minutes (it's actually only 30 seconds, max) to get the three or so classes you really want, and if you are not a rising 3L, good luck with the small classes. You memorize the CRN numbers and practice typing them out as fast as you can. You come up with ridiculous strategies like, "oh if I sign up for this class right when I log in, the other people will worry about inputting their other two CRNs and I'll beat them to punch." You open the clock on your computer and watch the seconds count up to the exact second you can log in. Looking at it as an outsider, you would think we were all insane. On top of this, if you don't get that classes you want, you delve back into the course listing sheet and figure out more ways to avoid Friday classes. You assure yourself that taking 4 finals won't be that bad (it is). You tell yourself that the classes you have are good because you'll "use them in practice" or "I really should learn this now because I won't want to learn this when I'm practicing." Those are my go-to self-rationalizations. There is also always that friend of yours that has somehow figured out a schedule where they only have 1 final and 2 papers and no class on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Don't worry, your 8am Friday class will be just fine and all those finals you have at the end of the semester will be easy.

12:09 PM - 22 Apr 2017

Ohhh happy day! The first time I stepped into Notre Dame Stadium and saw a great play, my head turned back and forth, looking for a replay. Yet, I found no video screen. I honestly could not believe that a school with an endowment of 10 billion (BILLION!) did not have one video screen for the fans to see highlights of a big play or a replay on a close call. When I (very coherently) voiced my opinions on the matter, I was told by undergrads in the stands that it would "ruin the tradition of the stadium." Excuse me? So not only do I have to deal with trying to stand on these wooden benches from the 1920s without falling over all game, sub-40 degree games in October, and 2 home wins in a season, but now I can't know if a runner got in the endzone until the referee tells me? That's not my America. People forget that Notre Dame revolutionized college football by introducing the forward pass in 1913, however it seems that they took a 100+ year break from doing anything innovative. At least next year I will be able to see replays of our defense getting torched, thus giving me a better understanding of who to yell at.

3. Last week I wrote about how great the weather is getting in South Bend, however I totally forgot about my love/hate relationship with the sun. The sun and I do NOT get along. I have been alive for 9,728 days and I am 0 for 9,728 vs. the sun. It is incredibly annoying to go through the daily routine of getting ready to leave in the morning, going outside, stopping, and thinking to myself, "I should probably put on sunscreen." I sometimes wear long-sleeve shirts in 80 degree weather just to save the 5 minutes. It's almost a blessing I have finals and papers due, giving me an excuse to stay inside and away from the sun. Being a ginger is not all fun and games, like the media, television, internet, and movies make it out to be.

4. I realized that these were really just mini-rants. I'll try and be more cheerful next week.

Let's Go Rangers

Lots of love,
Drew

ND DAY

This is incredibly important, so pay attention

What is ND DAY?

Notre Dame Day is a global celebration that makes the Notre Dame family Proud to Be ND, aimed to inspire people to take action to give back. It is a fundraising competition and 29-hour live streaming broadcast kick off on April 23 at 6:42pm EST. We need your help with this event!

The more people that donate $10, the more money NDLS SBA will have to fund our wonderful clubs, committees, and programs who will receive 100% of the donation proceeds! We've had a stellar year in 2016-2017. This year we had record setting attendance at Fall Ball, Father Mike, and Barrister's Ball. We had an insane amount of programs put on by our excellent student organizations and SBA committees. Not only that, we had SIX new clubs join our family and they need funding!

We are only asking for a $10 donation, and for you to spread the word to as many as possible who might be interested in helping our cause. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to let me know. Again, we are incredibly grateful for your support! To learn more about the event generally, you can visit notredameday.nd.edu.

HERE IS WHAT YOU DO:

Step 1: On Monday, April 24, go to this website: <https://notredameday.nd.edu/campaigns/student-bar-association-of-the-notre-dame-law-school-1>

Step 2: Donate $10 (or splurge, up to you). You'll get 5 votes when you do this. Make sure you count all 5 of your votes towards SBA.

Step 3: Tell anyone and everyone that is willing to listen to you about this and try and convince them to donate $10.

Step 4: Pat yourself on the back, you earned it.

Financial Tips

If you are graduating, look into various repayment options. For this you should contact your servicer for the terms of your repayment.

If you are a 2L or 1L returning in the fall:

1. Apply for external scholarships (look here, here, and here), and

2. Look into cost-saving measures, such as getting a roommate to reduce housing expenses and eliminating credit card debt.

Job Postings

Rising 2Ls and 3Ls: Admissions Fellows & Student Ambassador applications due TODAY, Monday, April 24. The Admissions Fellows & Student Ambassadors are the face of the Law School to visiting students and guests. They share their student experience, communicate with both prospective and admitted students, and conduct tours. These are paid positions that will require a similar time commitment; about 1-3 hours per week and up to 10 hours during Admitted Student Weekends. Apply here. Questions? Contact Marisa Villano @ mvillano@nd.edu.

Graduating 3Ls: Admissions Recruiter applications due TODAY, Monday, April 24. The Admissions Office is looking to hire an Admissions Recruiter(s) for the fall months (September 2017 through November 2017). The Admissions Recruiter will travel extensively to law fairs and forums throughout the country to engage in face-to-face recruitment activities. The ideal candidate will: be a recent graduate who will not begin his/her full time employment until after the middle of November; be self-motivated; be able to work independently and follow-through on work activities; have excellent interpersonal, communication, and presentation skills; have the ability to engage audiences from diverse backgrounds; enjoy extensive business travel; and have availability to work evenings and weekends. The candidate does not have to be based in South Bend. This position requires a valid driver's license. Apply here. Questions? Contact Lauren Fleck @ l.fleck@nd.edu.

Legal Voices for Children and Youth Applications

Legal Voices for Children and Youth is accepting submissions of interest to be next year's President, Vice President, Treasurer, and Secretary.

Please email lrafter@nd.edu if you are interested in a position! Those interested should include in the email: their name, the position they seek, and a brief explanation why - a paragraph or so is sufficient. Submissions are due Tuesday, May 2nd.
