News and Notes

Don't forget to sign up for the Father Mike Show! This year's event will take place April 2nd, 8pm at Legends. The show is done in honor of Fr. Mike McCafferty, a popular and highly respected NDLS Professor whose life was shortened by cancer. It is always a fantastic night of music, comedy, videos, and parodies for charities. If you are interested in performing please e-mail and include 1) your talent 2) what you plan on doing and 3) a cell phone number.

From Julie Shook: If you will recall, Terri Welty and I were the representatives for the Law School and Law Library last year for the Put Your Feet Up – Relay for Life Campaign. This is a fantastic opportunity for us, as a community, to help raise awareness for cancer and show our support. We are seeking new representatives to take over for us and beat our $666.00 donation last year. Please let me know if you are interested and I will pass your name along to Roberta White. Thank you for your consideration!

ND News has featured Lloyd Mayer as an ND Expert: SCOTUS 'drops other shoe' on campaign contributions on the ND Newswire page.

Rick Garnett was a guest on NPR's TALK OF THE NATION show Who Gets Religious Exemptions And Why on February 21st.

CNN Money quoted Judy Fox in the article Zombie foreclosures: Borrowers hit with debts that won't die on February 22nd.

John Nagle was quoted in the article Conservation Triage Say you have an ark. Which species do you save? in Slate.com.

News from the Library

Susan Good has been working on digitizing old issues of Notre Dame Law School publications, including the former iteration of the NDLS Update, the Bulletin of Information, and Lawyer magazines. She recently came across this old photo of the Main Reading Room circa 1970 and wanted to share!

Have you been to the South Reading Room recently? Next time you're searching for some light reading, head over to the library, where you can kick back and relax on one of the comfy couches in this sunny reading room and enjoy any number of "popular reading" materials! (Just ignore the sound of the law student snoring next to you; this seems to be the most popular spot in the law library for nap-time, too.) Be sure to peruse the popular magazine titles, daily newspapers, and the newly created collection of "popular" and "Notre Dame-related" fiction and non-fiction, which includes The Complete Calvin & Hobbes, and numerous John Grisham novels. Don't forget there are also some fun board games housed in this room, including chess and Stratego! If you're looking for a longer break (or something to take home with you) just a few steps away at the circulation desk you can check-out any one of hundreds of titles in the popular DVD collection, which includes movies and TV series. See the frequently updated list of titles available here! All are available for a 3-day checkout period.
