TRINITY COLLEGE DUBLIN LAW STUDENT COLLOQUIUM

Students (J.D, LL.M and SJD) at the University of Notre Dame Law School are invited to participate in the 8th annual Trinity College Dublin Law Student Colloquium scheduled for Saturday, 20 February 2016. The Colloquium will take place at various venues on the scenic campus of Trinity College Dublin in Dublin City Center.

Please see the website, www.colloquium.ie, and the facebook page for up-to-date information about the 2016 Colloquium. The call for abstracts and the FAQ is also attached here.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The Colloquium Committee invites the submission of abstracts for the eighth Trinity College Law Student Colloquium, which will take place on Saturday, 20 February 2016, in the School of Law and the Trinity Long Room Hub Arts and Humanities Research Institute. The Colloquium will be presided over by Dr Oran Doyle, Head of School and Professor in the School of Law, Trinity College Dublin.

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION DEADLINE: 20 November 2015 at 5pm (Irish time).

PAPER SUBMISSION DEADLINE: 29 January 2016* (*Only those, whose abstracts are accepted, are expected to submit a paper to the organizing committee. There will be a prize for the best paper.)

The abstract can deal with any area of law and must be submitted via the abstract submission section of the Colloquium website (www.colloquium.ie). Queries may be directed to the organizing committee at law.student.colloquium@gmail.com

FROM JENN AND ANTHONY

Save the date! Barrister's Ball, our annual formal event during the spring semester featuring a sit-down dinner and dancing, will be Saturday, April 2, 2016 at Palais Royale.

FROM ME

Save the date! Father Mike, our annual talent show event during the spring semester featuring a live auction, food and bar, will be Wednesday, March 2, 2016 at Legends.

THANKSGIVING BASKET DRIVE

The SBA Community Service subcommittee is hosting a thanksgiving Basket Drive. Our goal is to provide approximately 50 meals to the YWCA of Northern Indiana. To this, we need money. Approximately $1500. Here is the gofundme for it. <https://www.gofundme.com/NDThanksgiving> . If you can, a donation would be greatly appreciated. I can't imagine how much it may mean to a family in need to be able to have a full Thanksgiving dinner.

Food: If you RSVP

THURSDAY:

Riddle of the Week:

So when I was in first grade I had this friend named Finny. When I was in second grade, there was a new student named Finny. Therefore, I had a new friend named Finny. It was hard to keep them straight, so I called the second one New Finny. Then, one day, I was leaving my house to go play, and my mom was like “where are you going” and I was like “New Finny’s” and she was like, “this seems lazy, and not even a riddle. Also, it seems statistically unlikely that you have two friends named Finny in this area; Kansas isn’t known for its dense Irish population” and I was like “I have a lot of reading, mom.”

FRIDAY:

Mass and Lunch with Professor Rick Garnett

Start your weekend off right by joining the St. Thomas More Society and Professor Rick Garnett for 12:30 Mass in the law school chapel, followed by lunch at The Crooked Ewe.

Where: Chapel, then Crooked Ewe

A Day in The Life: A Squirrel
Chris Boll Was Once a Member of the Michigan Squirrel Club

Today I found a nut, I buried the nut. Then a kid tried to feed me a bagel. I jumped at the kid, snickered, and the kid screamed, but I got the bagel. I found another nut, buried it, but now I forgot where I buried the first nut. Now I sleep. The end.

Sports
Anthony Bui

This past weekend's game was Senior Day, or 3L Day. It was also the one last hurrah of the season for all students before they would lock themselves in their rooms for finals as if Y2K was about to come. A shoutout to Chris Rubey for facilitating an unofficial law school tailgate for the entire season. It takes a lot to plan and organize these tailgates, not to mention trying to encourage people to contribute to the fund. Tailgates are all about spreading and redistributing the wealth and I must say most of those on this campus seem to like that principle.

The highlight of the game was a 98 yard run by freshman Josh Adams. The run featured a beautiful stiff arm that was stiff as Ronda Rousey's boxing on Saturday. Notre Dame proceeded to win the game, but we may have possibly lost the war when Stanford lost this past weekend. Now, the final showdown of the season has less of a flair to it. Even if we beat Stanford, we're going to need a lot of other teams to lose in order to make it to the College Football Playoffs. This is THE time when we should lend the powers of Touchdown Jesus to teams that are needed to help us. If we can show the same passion (and possibly anger) as Wake Forest's coach, then I think this team can go places.

Anyways, it was a great last game of the season. There were enough marshmallows thrown at the stadium that a Stay Puft Marshmallow Man could have been created. Unfortunately however, if someone asks if we are a god, we can't say yes as students of a Catholic institution. Although I do not condone the actions of undergrads ripping up the wooden bleach seats, some lucky people got to go home with a wooden piece of Notre Dame history. Many others got to get on the field after the game ended for photo opportunities, running around, or just basking in the moment of standing on the same field as Rudy. So tip for 1Ls, 2Ls, or just future ND game attendees: stick around after the last game of the season to get on the field. Next week: Shamrock Series versus Boston College. Go Irish.

Scooter News:

Last week I spent 20 dollars on a Groupon for a screenwriting course (it was something like a $940 value). I'm currently drafting an early version of "Scoot It and Boot It: The Story of One Man's Scooter and the Bandit Who Changed Everything."
