Ladies and Gentlemen, welcome back after another spectacular football game. The Irish pulled out another high profile win against the UMass MinuteMen, you know, that storied program known most for producing Live Schrieber. In all seriousness, though, the Irish are now six in the nation for two weeks in a row and as we know, number six can occasionally be the best. I mean, Air Buddies was a game changer for the Air Bud franchise; Now! That's What I Call Music Volume 6 featured hits from Creed, Incubus AND Fuel (all in a row)!; and of course, we can't forget American Idol! Season 6, which brought us Sanjaya.

Message From Jenn (Not Really an Administrator, Just the SBA Social Chair, but go with it....)

Come join us for a night of painting and socializing at Legends on October 13th from 7-10pm!! U Can Paint 2 will help guide us in painting a picture of the Dome, so no need to worry about being artistically talented. Appetizers will be provided, and there will be a cash bar. We have already had more than 30 people sign up, and the price is locked at the discounted $25 rate. Sign up by 10/4/15 here: <https://u-canpaint2.com/registration/?ee=811>. Feel free to come hang out even if you do not feel like painting!

Location: Legends
Date: 10/13/2015
Time: 7-10 PM
Food: Appetizers

Not to be overly critical, but why is there a forrest blocking the dome? The time on the clock is just a plus sign. The statue on top of the dome looks a little like a penguin. If the sky is so blue, why is it yellow straight ahead? Is this just an artist's representation of The Dark Forest from Legends of the Hidden Temple?

Do a better job than whoever painted this and come on October 13th!

From Jenn (again)

FALL BALL SAVE THE DATE

Fall Ball will on October 30, 2015 from 9pm to 1am at Riverside Terrace. Fall Ball is our annual semi-formal event during the fall semester, featuring hor d'oeuvres, dancing, and a cash bar. Public Interest Fellowship Season Kick-Off Talk and Reception, Create Your Own Job Through the Shaffer and Bank of America Foundation Fellowships

Hosted by: GALILEE, CDO, WLF, PILF, Hispanic American Law Students, Legal Voices for Children & Youth, ACS, St. Thomas More Society, and the SBA

Shaffer Fellows, Leigh Loman and Enrique Romero and Bank of America Foundation Fellow, Jason Sethen, will speak about how they created their own public interest job opportunities through the Shaffer and BOAF Fellowships, designed solely for NDLS students and given out every year. Dean Newton, Professor Jones, and CDO Assistant Director, Katelynn McBride, will provide opening remarks on Public Interest Fellowship Season and NDLS' commitment to public service.

Each Fellow designed a unique project at a different host organization. Leigh designed a project at the Education Law Center in Pittsburgh, project defending youths who are suspended or expelled from public schools and working on related public policy advocacy. Enrique designed a project with the New Mexico Legal Aid Land and Water Project to help citizens in New Mexico's rural counties defend their water rights. Jason designed a project at the Chicago Low Income Housing Trust, working to provide secure, safe, sound, and affordable housing for low-income working households, the disabled, the elderly, and countless homeless individuals and families.

In this weekly segment, you have to guess who this is. First person to correctly email me the response gets this photo in an 8 x 10 frame.

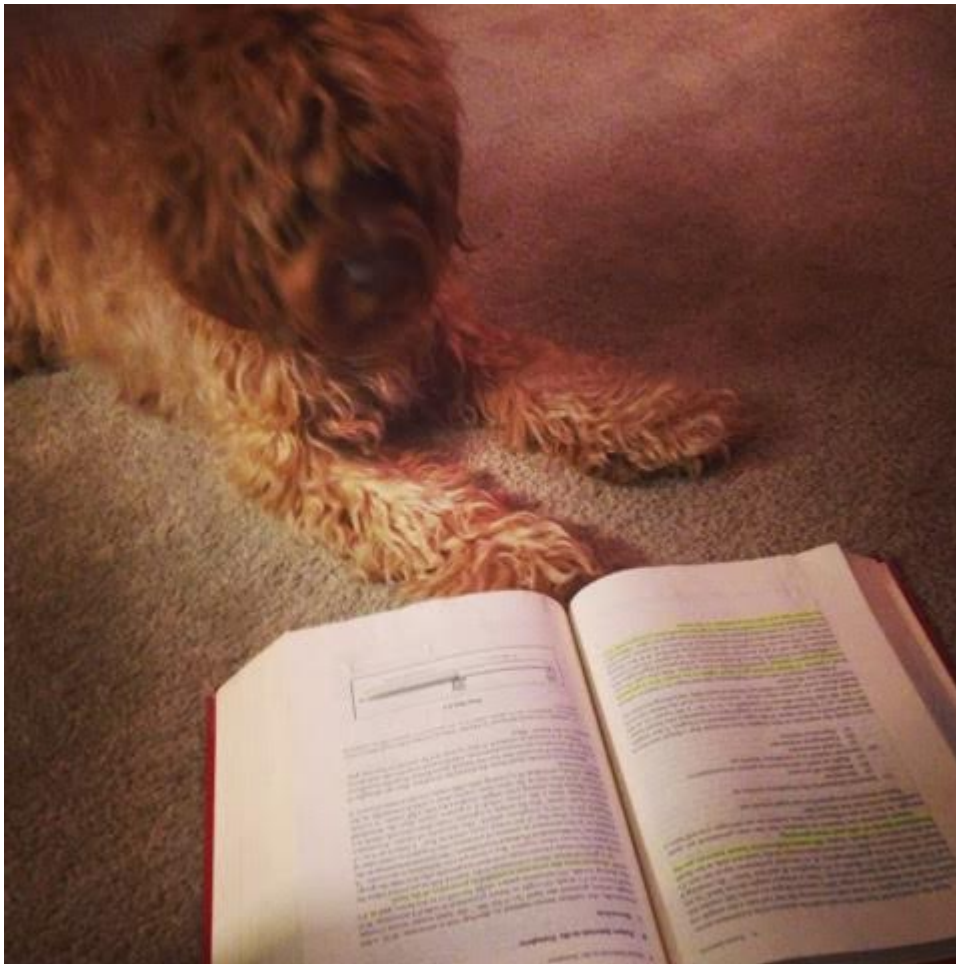

Cute Puppy Contest:

Thanks to everybody who responded in droves to the weekly cute puppy contest. Remember, send me your cute puppy pictures each week to be submitted.

This week's winner is 3L Becca Rozen and her dog Charles Barksley.

A Day in the Life: Part-Time Jobs

Each week a different student will provide commentary regarding his/her law school experience.

Rachel Lynn

I wake up and it's time to go to work. Things have been hard since I decided to take that janitor job at that school in Boston, Massachusetts. I enjoy making money and paying the bills, but sometimes I think I was gifted with the intelligence to do so much more.

At work, I see a math equation on the chalkboard. I decide to try my hand at the math, despite having no background or schooling on advanced mathematics. The equation is basically a snap so I solve it in a few minutes and leave it on the board for the professors to see in the morning.

I come home from work and tell my best friends Chuckie that even though I have a genius IQ, I would rather work as a laborer for the rest of my life. Chuckie is pretty mad that I'm saying this. He says I'm meant for more and it is actually an insult if I stay in Boston and remain a Janitor at MIT for the rest of my life.

I'm so torn by this conversation with Chuckie. Maybe I should talk about it with my therapist tomorrow morning. He's a real genie at helping me work through my emotions.

Author's note: I have not written anything for this week because I deemed this game to be meaningless. I attempted to sell this column on Facebook, but could not compete with the going rates of $20 or the bartering offers of a twelve pack of Coca-Cola. As a result, this column will be rendered as unwritten.
