Ladies and gentleman, welcome to the new MMU regime. Allow me to get straight to it. We're all under a lot of pressure here. We're busy. We're tired. We're trying to simultaneously deal with Law School Finals, NHL and NBA playoffs, and Shonda Rhimes' complete disregard for our well-being. So with that being said. I'm going to keep this short and sweet. Expect more from me next semester.

Out of all respect for all those to whom Grey's Anatomy has been the most consistent thing in their lives for the last ten years: I provide you with the first GIF in a year year. Patrick Dempsey explaining your pot-obligation to Grey's.

MONDAY

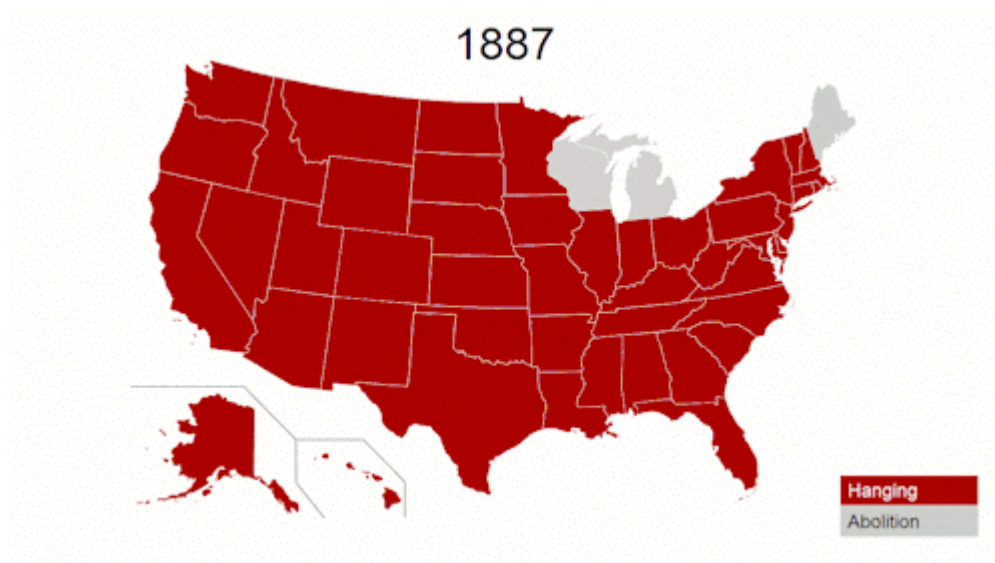

Notre Dame Day. As you may have heard, the Notre Dame endowment has dwindled to just around nine billion dollars. In order to compensate for this staggering number, the University has put together Notre Dame Day. Notre Dame Day is all centered around a $1,000,000 challenge fund. Over 750 organizations will be participating. The way it works is thusly: The challenge fund will be split among organizations based off the percentage of votes that each organization receives - for example, 1% of the vote is worth $10,000.

To vote, you (or your family, friends, or whoever) can go to notredameday.nd.edu and look up "Law School" and click "Give and Vote". A $10 gift will give you 5 votes to use for whatever campus organizations you like (you can use all 5 on the law school). Each subsequent $10 gift gives you only one vote.

The following is actual footage from the main building:

The Christian Legal Society and St. Thomas More Society: 12:30-1:30PM, Room 1130. A Presentation on the Death Penalty, by Professor Gurule. Professor Gurule will present a critique of the death penalty from a Christian perspective and discuss the reform options available. Pizza will be served!

(Matt Wine, look how educational this GIF is. How happy is everybody that his reign of gif-less terror has come to an end?)

Center for the Study of Religion and Society: 4:30-6:15PM, McKenna Hall. Polarization in the US Catholic Church, Naming the Wounds, Beginning to Heal. Come hear a panel (including Father Jenkins) answer the following question: How can we heal [the broken body of Christ in the United States] and reestablish the virtues of love, solidarity and humility at the heart of the Christian message? <http://csrs.nd.edu/events/polarization/>

TUESDAY

Public Interest Law Forum: Elections 12:30PM, Room: TBA. The President of PILF still hasn't figured out what room this will be held in. He's done like this Kangaroo and dropped the ball. What a goof.

WEDNESDAY

Allow me to take a moment to say the following. I ran for Secretary of the SBA on a campaign promise. That promise was bringing back the cute animal GIF of the week. Well, I don't break promises. And it's the week before finals, so every body is down and out. So I give you not one, not two, not even three, four or five, BUT SIX cute animal GIFs of the week. Enjoy.

Study Day: Have you started openly weeping yet? I have. That's not even a joke. Law school won, guys.

THURSDAY

Study Day

Unofficial poll: Best Linebacker of all time: Ray Lewis or Lawrence Taylor?

FRIDAY

EXAMS BEGIN

SATURDAY

MORE EXAMS

(Isn't it cool that I was able to find a GIF starring Ashley Chilton?)

Until Next Year,
Brian
