Congratulations to Amy Barrett and Jennifer Ihns, who both celebrate their 10 year service anniversaries this July. Thanks to both of you!

Dean Newton announced that Fr. Bill Dailey has accepted our offer to be a Lecturer in Law at the Law School. Fr. Dailey will be teaching a mix of professional responsibility, jurisprudence, evidence, and immigration law. As a Lecturer in Law, Fr. Bill will also serve on committees. In addition, he will undertake some special projects as needed. Congratulations Fr. Bill!

Notice of Office Moves this summer:

- Christine Cervenak moved to 2157
- Doug Cassel moved to 2156
- Fr. Dailey moved to 2113
- Julian Velasco moved to 2142
- Kristine Kalanges will be in 2144
- Veronica Root will be in 1118

Free Books for Law Faculty!

Sean Caldwell is the LexisNexis Midwest Law School Publishing Representative. Through Sean, faculty may request complimentary examination copies of law school and selected practitioner publications to consider for class adoption or as recommended reading material. Casebooks are also available in a student loose-leaf version, printed on three-hole punched paper. The student loose-leaf versions of casebooks have the same pagination as the hardbound version and are priced 40% lower than the hardbound casebook. In addition to the Understanding Series of concise, yet comprehensive treatises and the Questions & Answers Series of subject-specific student study aids, there is also a new Skills & Values Series. The subject-specific books in the innovative Skills & Values Series allow you to integrate experiential learning materials into your courses, helping your students learn not only how to think like a lawyer but also how to be better prepared to practice when they graduate. For information or assistance with any or all of the above, please contact Sean by email (sean.m.caldwell@lexisnexis.com) or by phone (513-721-2506).

Question of the Week:

Dog owners – do you have a favorite place or places in the South Bend area that you enjoy taking your pet pooch?

Melissa Fruscione: I love walking my dogs (or letting them nikephorus_and_cecilbie walk me) on the Notre Dame campus. They love encountering all of the campus wild life, especially chasing the squirrels. They also really love the attention the students give them as we walk by. I remember being here as a student missing my family dog and I am sure many current students feel the same way. My dogs like playing with the current students, providing a little sense of home when possible. The dogs are also avid fans of Corby Hall when the priests are out on the front porch. And of course my four-legged children know exactly where I work and often run right up to the Law School door!

Jaimi Wood: My family and I like to take our dog Max to the dog park in max Mishawaka. The dog park is located at Margaret Pricket Marina Park, which is on the south side of Jefferson Boulevard between Wyland Marine and Boone State Fish Hatchery, across from the AM General Assembly Plant. Max loves to run on the four acres of both lawn and wooded run area. I never have to be concerned that he may get “out” as the run is entirely surrounded by a chain link fence, and is at least 5 feet in height. There are shade trees and benches to sit, while we watch Max play with the other dogs. If Max gets thirsty, there is also a watering station.

Clint Brown: We like to bring our Beagle and Dachshund to camps to walk clintdogs around the lakes. I'm not sure if the geese appreciate it very much because the hunters in both of them come alive when we get near the geese and Lucy (beagle) starts howling and Riley (dachshund) uncontrollably barks at them. They are usually worn out after a couple times around the lakes. So are the geese.

We're looking for responses for next week's Question of the Week: What are your favorite beaches within driving distance of South Bend? Please e-mail us your answer by 3:00 p.m. on Monday, July 9th!
