As for Yelp, also good ratings, but to be fair, Christina M. says this..."I just read the review about finding a fingernail in the food, and while I'm happy that reviewer took it in stride...my enthusiasm for trying this place again has diminished significantly." According to another review she did try it six days later and gave it 3 out of 5 stars.

MISCELLANEOUS

- Blake Biggar successfully plead incapacity as a defense in his recent shunning of this author in pre-game activities. His name has been removed from "The Shunning" list and he has been returned to "friend" status. New names may be added or deleted in the future, but as of now shunners include: David Cox, Stephen Astringer, and Wes Horton.
- Breast Cancer Awareness Month is ongoing and the 2L class is doing a raffle this week in the commons at lunch. Tickets are $3 each or $10 for 4 tickets. The prizes are: Lunch with Dean Newton, Coffee with Professor Amy Barrett, Lunch with Professor Ratigan, and beverages with Professor Fick.
- Sweatshirts and Long Sleeve t-shirts are now in, come by the SBA office and get yours ASAP.

- Ryan Granholm hopes to inspire "Flannel Fridays." Will you join him in his lumberjackedness?
- The Notre Dame Women's Boxing Club will be hosting the 12th Annual Baraka Bouts in the coming weeks--the Semifinals will take place on Tuesday, November 4, and the Finals will take place on Friday, November 7. The fights will be held in the Joyce Center Fieldhouse. The time is TBA. Rachael Nave and fellow 3L Melinda Cook will be fighting in the Bouts this year. If anybody would like a ticket to the Bouts to come support Melinda and Rachel, they can contact Rachel at rnave@nd.edu. Tickets are $10 and all of the proceeds go to the Holy Cross Missions in Uganda. More info can be found here: <http://www3.nd.edu/~wboxing/>.
- Have the energy to claim some money? Thanks to Chris O'Byrne, research librarian, for pointing this out. Here is some info about the Red Bull Class Action Settlement, so that all law students who have consumed Red Bull since 2002 (which I am guessing is almost all of you) can receive your $10 slice of class action pie (or $15 of Red Bull products). <http://www.energydrinksettlement.com/>
- The Father Mike Show is looking for acts. You received the e-mail to register an act so use it and show your classmates just how talented you think you are.

Get to Know a Faculty/Staff/Student

Erin Kauffman is suspicious of penguins. “Look at this one I brought home, acting like he owns the place now. I still don’t know where my supply of Goldfish went to.” When asked about the greatest hardship she has had to overcome, other than her distrust of penguins, Erin does not hesitate...“left handedness.” To be clear, being left handed was not Erin’s choice. “Who would choose to be left handed when being right handed is so much easier and socially accepted?” She hopes that her classmates, which is the reason she loves NDLS so much, are able to overlook this disformity and get to know her as the 80’s music loving (Heart and Foreigner) person that she is. She says she can’t sing, but please ask her to perform “I Want to Know What Love Is” either for the Father Mike Show or for your own personal enjoyment. She knows all the words and can hum the beat, don’t let her lie to you. While she comes to South Bend via Washington D.C. she is tragically a Steelers fan. When asked what her favorite Halloween costume was she confessed that she enjoyed dressing up as Lara Croft: Tomb Raider until the tomb raiding got “just too real.” When she isn’t running, strolling around St. Joseph Lake, or studying, then I have no idea what she is doing, but you should say hi and find out because she doesn’t know a stranger. Maybe you could, I don’t know, introduce her to a few.

WHO AM I? (Name the NDLS related individual - answer to be given in next week’s MMU)

Can you identify the person center, facing forward? Don't e-mail me your guess!
