Legal Writing Center

The Legal Writing Center is dedicated to helping law students become better writers. Our tutors accomplish this goal by listening attentively in writing conferences, reading papers carefully, and asking questions that can help writers better express their ideas and construct their arguments. Legal Writing Center tutors work with writers during all stages of the writing process—from understanding an assignment, to developing a thesis, to organizing the paper, to revising the final product. Note: 1Ls may not use the Legal Writing Center during the fall during worship services to learn about Judaism either as a class assignment or otherwise. Rabbi Friedland has informed the University that their visitor policy has changed this year and the University has asked us to pass on the new policy as needed to students. Please stop by to see Christine Holst in Student Services in Eck 1100 for more information if you plan to attend services at Sinai Synagogue this year.

A Little Lagniappe

Hello NDLS!

Y'all. What a week. What a weekend. Meeting alumni, attending all the fun events at the school, and of course, the Irish win! I hope everyone had as much fun this past week as I did because as far as law school goes, that was as fun as it gets! (Jk jk we have Spirit Week next week so there will be plenty more fun ahead don't you worry!)

Now, I want to tell you all about the *highlight* of my weekend--visiting the student section concession stand. So, I tried to wait as long as possible before visiting the stand because that was one heck of a game to watch on Saturday. The student section was packed and there was just no way I was leaving my seat and missing an Irish touchdown.

But it got to be the middle of quarter 3 and I couldn't take it any longer--I was STARVING. It was definitely concession stand time. So I shoved my way down the row (because of course I was sitting in the smack dab middle) and finally made it to the stairs in time for an interception by the Irish defense. Popcorn went flying all over, but I persevered and made my way down the stairs.

Finally, I get under the stadium and walk right up to order because there is no line #blessed. What did I order you ask? A hotdog, because who doesn't love a hotdog with ketchup and mustard at a football game? The guy then asks if I'm a student. Hello, I am in the student section, but I say yes and hand him my ID anyway. Then the most wonderful thing happened, I found out that WE GET A STUDENT DISCOUNT AT THE CONCESSION STAND! That hotdog was the best hotdog I've ever had because it was only $2.

For 3 years now I have been unnecessarily paying full price for my stadium snacks...my mind is just blown. It is my hope that by sharing this story with you you might learn sooner rather than later: We get a discount at the football concession stand. Use this knowledge wisely for next week!

SPORT REPORT

This week's Sport Report comes from 3L, Alex Knuth, who was kind enough to hit some highlights for us from this past week! Thanks Alex for a week in sports!

The most important news of the weekend is, of course, a strong defensive showing by the 10th ranked Fighting Irish, sending the 18th ranked Cavaliers back to Virginia with a 35-20 loss. Notre Dame has climbed to #9 in this week's AP Poll and hosts Bowling Green at home next weekend.

In other college football news, Michigan State beat our home-state Indiana Hoosiers 40-31. Top ranked Clemson almost suffered an upset, but pulled off a 21-20 victory over unranked North Carolina. They fall to #2 in this week's Poll. Notre Dame rivals USC and Purdue both suffered losses at the hands of Washington and Minnesota respectively while rival Michigan took last week's frustrations out on lowly Rutgers 52-0, resulting in the dismissal of Rutgers Head Coach Chris Ash.

In the NFL, the Chicago Bears showed that sometimes a defense is all you need to win a game, beating the Minnesota Vikings 16-6. Our home-state Colts were shocked by the struggling Oakland Raiders, 31-24. Widely considered the NFL's best two teams, the Patriots and Chiefs both faced adversity, but ultimately prevailed over the Bills and Lions respectively.

In baseball, the Cubs will forego the postseason (boo hoo) and have dismissed Manager Joe Maddon. Meanwhile, the MLB postseason will begin on Tuesday as the Milwaukee Brewers face off against the Washington Nationals in the National League Wild Card Game. The NL's other playoff representatives are the LA Dodgers, St.

Louis Cardinals, and Atlanta Braves. The American League will be represented by the Tampa Bay Rays, Oakland A's, Houston Astros, Minnesota Twins, and New York Yankees. Finally, a very special shoutout to the Houston Astros' Justin Verlander, who threw his 3,000th career strikeout (and 300th this season alone), becoming just the 18th pitcher in MLB history to reach the mark!

And of course, who could forget that this upcoming Wednesday is the start of the NHL season!

So many teams, so little writing space--that's all for this week! Want your team to be highlighted? Got a few things to say about this weekend's game schedule? EMAIL IT TO ME! (otherwise you'll get to read sports reported by me, a passionate but uneducated fan, all year long :) )
