Congratulations, Graduates!

Congratulations to the 197 NDLS graduates who received their degrees at the University's 156th commencement exercises on May 20, 2001, and to the two graduates who received their degrees in January 2001. In total, the University conferred one J.S.D. degree and 13 LL.M. degrees to graduates of the Center for Civil and Human Rights program in international human rights, and 185 J.D. degrees. Christine Rissler of Atlanta, Georgia, received the Hoynes Award, the Law School's highest honor, while Chad DeVeaux of Defiance, Ohio, received the O'Meara Award and Christian Schultz of Rochester Hills, Michigan, received the Farabaugh Prize. Six J.D. students graduated summa cum laude, 26 graduated magna cum laude and 34 cum laude, while seven LL.M. students earned magna cum laude honors and five earned cum laude honors.

A special congratulation goes to William P. Hoyer, associate vice president and deputy counsel and concurrent associate professor of law, who earned his LL.M. magna cum laude.

Alan Gunn Delivers Matthews Chair Inaugural Lecture

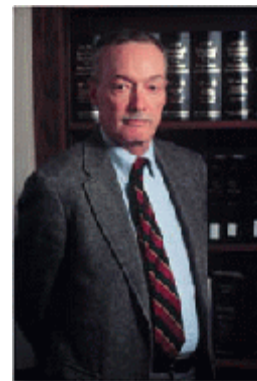

On Wednesday, April 25, 2001, Alan Gunn, John N. Matthews Professor of Law, delivered the Matthews Chair of Law inaugural lecture, "The Place of Economics in the Law of Torts." His lecture suggested that economic analysis can play a useful role in the law of torts – a role that often is hidden in law and economic assumption. Patrick J. Kelley '65, professor of law at Southern Illinois University, offered comments in response to the lecture.

Alan joined the NDLS faculty in 1989, after teaching at Washington University in St. Louis and Cornell Law School, where he was honored with two consecutive appointments to the J. duPratt White Chair in Law. He has also served as visiting professor at the University of Michigan, Boston College and the College of William and Mary. He earned his B.S. from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1961 and his J.D. from Cornell Law School in 1970, where he served as articles editor of the CORNELL LAW REVIEW.

His expertise is in the fields of contracts, torts, federal income taxation, taxation of business enterprises, economics and insurance. He received the Law School's Distinguished Teacher Award from the Class of 1998.

The John N. Matthews Chair in Law is the University's oldest endowed professorship and was held by Professor Edward F. Murphy until his death in 1996. It is the 1967 gift of Donald Matthews '55 in honor of his father, Captain John N. Matthews, a former ship's master and founder of a marine cargo firm in New York. Donald Matthews is chair of Capital Markets Access, Ltd., a financial guaranty insurance holding company headquartered in Bermuda. He was elected to the University's Board of Trustees in 1971 after serving on the Advisory Council for the College of Engineering.

Faculty Promotions Announced

Dean Patricia A. O'Hara '74J.D. has announced the following faculty promotions, effective at the beginning of the 2001-02 academic year:

- < Cathy Kaveny received tenure and has been named the first John P. Murphy Foundation Professor of Law. She joined the NDLS faculty in 1995 as an associate professor and writes and teaches seminars in subjects such as mercy and justice, and law and ethics at the end of life. She also teaches the required contracts course for first-year students.
- < John Nagle has been promoted to full professor. He joined the NDLS faculty in 1998 as a tenured associate professor and teaches and writes in the areas of environmental law, legislation and property.
- < Bill Kelley received tenure. He joined the NDLS faculty in 1995 as an associate professor of law and teaches and writes in the areas of constitutional law and administrative law.

Law Faculty Honored by University

At the annual University President's Dinner on May 22, 2001, several NDLS faculty received honors for their service to Notre Dame, NDLS and the community. Congratulations to the following honorees:

- < Roger F. Jacobs, associate dean, director of the Kresge Law Library and professor of law, received the Grenville Clark Award, which honors members of the community whose voluntary activities and public service advance the cause of peace and human rights.
- < Lucy Salisbury Payne '88J.D., research librarian, received the Reverend Paul J. Foik, C.S.C., Award, which is named for an alumnus who, as Notre Dame's librarian from 1912 to 1924, organized and professionalized the University's library.
- < Dinah L. Shelton, professor of law in the Center for Civil and Human Rights, received the Reinhold Niebuhr Award, which honors those whose life and teachings promote or exemplify the theological and philosophical concerns of Niebuhr.

Tex Dutile Honored by ND Alumni Association

Tex Dutile '65J.D. received the 2001 James E. Armstrong Award from the Notre Dame Alumni Association during the University's annual Alumni Senate in April. Established in 1978, the Armstrong Award recognizes outstanding service to the University by a graduate who is also a current employee of the University.

In addition to teaching at NDLS for 30 years, Tex has served on numerous University and Law School committees including: more than 25 years on the University's Academic Council and 10 years on the council's executive committee; the Provost's Advisory Committee; and the search committees for the University's two most-recent provosts. During 1991-93, when then-Dean David T. Link '58, '61J.D., was in Australia, Tex served as acting dean of the Law School, an appointment that interrupted his more than 10 years of service as associate dean of NDLS, from 1988 to 1991 and again from 1993 to 1999. Currently, Tex is chair of the University's Faculty Board on Athletics and serves as the University's representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Congratulations, Tex!

Former NDLS Professor Appointed Dean at Catholic University

Former NDLS Professor Douglas W. Kmiec has been named dean and St. Thomas More Professor of Law at the Columbus School of Law at The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Professor Kmiec taught at NDLS from 1983 to 1985, and again from 1989 to 1999. From 1985 to 1989, he served in the administrations of Presidents Reagan and Bush as head of the Office of Legal Counsel in the U.S. Department of Justice. Since 1999, he has held the Caruso Family Chair in Constitutional Law at Pepperdine University School of Law.

Roger Jacobs served on the ABA site evaluation team for the sabbatical inspection at Fordham University Law School in New York in early March.

Roger Jacobs reports that NDLS, along with the other three Indiana law schools, will share in a $22,500 grant from the Indiana State Library to institute a high-speed document delivery system among the law libraries at each of the four law schools. The project, supported by the Institute of Museums and Library Services under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act, which is administered by the Indiana State Library, will implement the Ariel and Prospero document-delivery systems. Ariel enables libraries to scan and transmit documents via the Internet at high quality and lower cost than other means of document sharing. Prospero makes it possible for the Ariel documents to be delivered electronically to the desktop of the requesting patron. The program will also enable Indiana's four law schools to share resources with other law libraries using the Ariel and Prospero systems, such as the nine law school libraries in the state of Illinois.

News from the Center for Civil & Human Rights

The center's Human Rights Roundtable series continued in April with Abdullahi An-Na'im, the Charles Howard Candler Professor of Law at Emory University and a member of the center's advisory council, who spoke on "Human Rights, Religion and Secularism: Does It Have to Be a Choice?" on April 26, 2001.

The center sponsored a conference and training program at NDLS on April 27-28, 2001, on "Accountability in the Treatment of Prisoners," which included prominent scholars, advocates and practitioners to re-examine the existing mechanisms of accountability regarding treatment of prisoners and to highlight the need for greater involvement on the part of civil society to develop new mechanisms of accountability that might serve as alternatives to litigation. NDLS faculty participants in the conference included CCHR director Professor Juan Méndez, in a panel discussion titled "Trends and Problems in the treatment of Prisoners," Professor Jay Tidmarsh '79, in a panel discussion titled "The Role of Government in Ensuring Accountability," and center associate director Garth Meintjes '91LL.M., in a panel titled "The Role of Civil Society in Prison Monitoring."

The center honored its 2001 graduates with a reception on Friday, May 18, 2001, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of South Dining Hall. University President Emeritus Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., paid a surprise visit to the gathering and gave the graduates an inspiring speech about their commitment to service.

News from the London Law Programme

Geoffrey J. Bennett, Professor of Law and Director of the Notre Dame London Law Programme, published Criminal Procedure and Sentencing in ALL ENGLAND LAW REPORTS ANNUAL REVIEW OF 2000. He also presented a seminar on "The Anglo-American Law of Evidence" to a senior visitors' delegation attending the EU-China Legal and Judicial Cooperation Programme 2001, held at the School of African and Oriental Studies at the University of London in January.

Peter T. Muchlinski, a member of the London program faculty, has been appointed professor of law and international business at the Kent Law School, which is at the University of Kent in Canterbury, England. In April, he participated in a World Bank staff seminar held in Washington, D.C., on "Responsible Globalization."

Faculty Notes

Joe Bauer presented "The Stealth Assault on Antitrust Enforcement: Raising the Barriers for Antitrust Injury and Standing" at the First Annual Midwest Antitrust Colloquium sponsored by the Institute for Consumer Antitrust Studies at the Loyola University Chicago School of Law on April 6, 2001.

A.J. Bellia '94J.D. served as a member of the counsel team for the appellant, Mack Arthur King, in a death-penalty case, King v. Mississippi, which the Mississippi Supreme Court reversed and remanded on April 19, 2001, based on a finding that the trial court had issued improper instructions to the jury regarding the role that "sympathy" should play in the jury's deliberations. The case stems from a 1980 murder.

Bob Blakey '57, '60J.D. commented on the racketeering lawsuit filed by the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee against U.S. House of Representatives Majority Whip Tom DeLay in an article titled Klayman Trains Sights on DeLay in the April 9, 2001, edition of ROLL CALL. Bob was retained by Representative DeLay's legal team last year, after he had publicly criticized the lawsuit, to write a legal memorandum supporting their side in the case.

Bob provided commentary and analysis to an extensive investigative piece in the April 12, 2001, edition of the MIAMI (FLORIDA) NEW TIMES concerning an investigation into CIA activities relevant to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The article focused on a CIA officer, George Joannides, who was involved with the Revolutionary Student Directorate, an anti-Castro organization of Cuban exiles in Miami that had dealings with Lee Harvey Oswald. Joannides represented the CIA to the House Select Committee on Assassinations, on which Bob served as general counsel. Although Bob believed at the time that the CIA had cooperated fully with the committee, the article states that he no longer cares to defend that claim. In particular, Bob commented that Joannides actually was a witness to events that might have led to the Kennedy assassination, intimating that he therefore should not have been involved in the investigation.

He also commented on the prosecution of biker gangs under the Canadian equivalent of the U.S. RICO law, on which he consulted, in an article titled It's a Blitzkrieg on Biker Gangs in the March 29, 2001, edition of THE OTTAWA (ONTARIO) CITIZEN.

Gerry Bradley published Bush v. Gore - A Case in Conservative Judicial Activism? in the June 1, 2001, edition of WORLD AND I.

Eileen Doran '86J.D. continues as a member of Indiana's Pro Bono Commission, whose mission is to ensure equal access to justice for all citizens, regardless of economic status, by creating and promoting opportunities for attorneys to provide pro bono civil legal services to persons of limited means.

She is stepping down at the end of this academic year as co-director of the Notre Dame Legal Aid Clinic to work at the Casie Center, and advocacy organization in South Bend.

Tex Dutile '65J.D. served as the guest speaker for the Universal Notre Dame Night Celebration held by the Notre Dame Club of Dayton, Ohio, on May 8, 2001.

Barbara Fick conducted two two-day seminars on "ILO Conventions and the Law and Practice under Ukrainian Collective Labor Law: Compliance and Conflict" for trade-union leaders affiliated with the Confederation of Free Trade Unions of Ukraine in Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk, Ukraine in March.

She also commented on a deal struck by Acxiom Corporation with its employees, who agreed to take pay cuts in exchange for Acxiom stock in order to keep the company in business, in an article titled Choosing Your Cut; These Workers Make Less but Keep Their Jobs in the April 15, 2001, edition of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Rick Garnett provided commentary regarding the "schizophrenic" treatment of unborn life in U.S. laws and morality for an article titled Round One in the Abortion Fight in the April 21, 2001, edition of THE NATIONAL JOURNAL. He also commented on the problems with the FBI files in the Oklahoma City bombing trial in an article titled Discovery of FBI Files Prompts 30-Day Delay in the May 12, 2001, edition of THE INDIANAPOLIS STAR.

With John P. Elwood, a partner in the Washington, D.C., office of Baker Botts, L.L.P., he published Section 666, The Spending Power and Federalization of Criminal Law in the May 2001 issue of THE CHAMPION.

Cathy Kaveny presented "Beyond the Harm Principle: The Role of Law as a Moral Teacher in a Pluralistic Society," the Joseph B. Brennan Lecture sponsored by Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., in April.

Don Kommers reviewed TO KILL A NATION: THE ATTACK ON YUGOSLAVIA by Michael Parenti in the April 9, 2001, edition of AMERICA.

Garth Meintjes '91LL.M. commented on his November 2000 visit to Israel, under the auspices of Amnesty International to conduct an investigation into the treatment of Arab prisoners held in Israel pending trial, in an article titled Imprisoned Israeli Arabs are Punished Before Trial in the November 26, 2000, edition of HA'ARETZ.

Carol Mooney '77J.D. served as the guest speaker for the Universal Notre Dame Night Celebration held by the Notre Dame Club of the Mid-Hudson Valley in Poughkeepsie, New York, on May 9, 2001.

Dean Patricia A. O'Hara '74J.D. gave the commencement address to the 34th graduating class at Holy Cross College, South Bend, Indiana, in May.

Charlie Rice reports that he gave a number of presentations on natural law and right-to-life issues throughout the spring semester including the following: at a meeting of Right to Life in Fort Wayne, Indiana, January 20; at the California Right to Life dinner in Oakland, January 27; at Palm Beach Atlantic University in Florida, February 17; at the St. Joseph County (Indiana) Men's Day of Prayer in South Bend, March 10; at Widener University School of Law, March 30; in Florida at Miami-Dade Community College and at St. Thomas University on April 5, and at St. John Vianney Seminary on April 6; at St. Vincent College in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, April 19; and at the Villanova University Right to Life Dinner, April 22. He also gave Hesburgh Lectures sponsored by the Notre Dame Alumni Association to the Notre Dame Alumni Clubs of Marion, Indiana; Indianapolis, Indiana; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Washington, D.C.; and Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Honorable Kenneth F. Ripple was included in a profile of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals titled 7th Circuit is Known for Being a "Hot Bench" in the May 21, 2001, edition of THE NATIONAL LAW JOURNAL. In the article, which describes the workings of the court and analyzes the personal styles of the judges, Judge Ripple was noted for being "the most computer literate [member of the bench], not hesitating to use his laptop to call up cited cases in the middle of an oral argument."

John H. Robinson '72M.A., '75Ph.D., the Law School's representative to the University's Faculty Senate, commented on the senate's recent vote to dissolve itself in an article titled Faculty Senate, Upset at Its Impotence, May Lack Power to Dissolve Itself in the May 7, 2001, edition of the CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION.

John, who had voted against the resolution to dissolve the body, commented, "If you get rid of the only voice that the faculty at Notre Dame has, to think that thereby you'll be vesting the faculty with a better voice is sort of funny logic." He commented on the vengeance aspect of the death penalty in an article titled In the Name of Justice? Meaning Pivots Around Definition: Should It Include or Exclude Revenge? in the May 10, 2001, edition of the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE.

Congratulations to NDLS Associate Dean Vincent D. Rougeau and his wife, Dr. Robin Rougeau, on the birth of their son, Vincent, on April 23, 2001, in South Bend's Memorial Hospital. Baby Vincent weighed 8 lbs. 4 ozs. He joins older brothers Christian and Alexander at home.

Tom Shaffer '61J.D. gave the annual Sibley Lecture at the University of Georgia on April 4, 2001, speaking on "Lawyers as Prophets, Consolers, Neighbors." While there, he also conducted seminars with legal-aid interns at the law school and with members of the Christian Law Student Fellowship.

Steve Smith provided extensive commentary on the likelihood of the U.S. Supreme Court agreeing to hear a case involving the constitutionality under the First Amendment of a Ten Commandments monument on public grounds in Elkhart, Indiana, in an article titled Law Experts Differ on Willingness of Supreme Court to Tackle Case in the April 29, 2001, edition of the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE.

Eric Smithburn has been certified as a senior judge by the Indiana Judicial Nominating Commission. The commission certifies only former trial or appellate court judges to senior judge status, which will allow him to assist Indiana's courts when called upon by sitting judges. Professor Smithburn was eligible for the appointment because he had served as a trial court judge in Marshall County, Indiana, prior to joining the NDLS faculty in 1978.

Administrator & Staff Notes

Cathy Roemer will join the Law School administration in late June as director of Law School Administration, a position vacated when Reverend James E. McDonald, C.S.C., left the Law School in December 2000 to become rector of St. George's School in Santiago, Chile.

Ms. Roemer earned her accounting degree from the School of Business at Indiana University, Bloomington. She then worked as a staff accountant for KPMG Peat Marwick in Chicago before returning to her hometown, South Bend, to become vice president and controller for Norwest Bank Indiana. After almost a decade with Norwest, she became vice president and chief financial officer with the O'Brien Corporation. For the last four years, she has worked in the public sector, becoming city controller and director of administration and finance for the city of South Bend.

In addition to earning her professional credential as a certified public accountant, Ms. Roemer has served as a member and officer of a dozen local community organizations including terms as president of Neighborhood Housing Services of South Bend and of the South Bend Board of Public Works. She is currently treasurer for three community organizations and a member of the board of six others.

Julia Meister '95J.D., Director of Student Services at NDLS, was reappointed to the board of trustees for the Cincinnati Shakespeare Festival.

Congratulations to Linda Harrington, supervisor of office services in the Notre Dame Legal Aid Clinic, who was honored for 20 years of service to the University at the annual President's Staff Recognition Dinner on May 21, 2001.

Law School Briefs

Germain Grisez, who holds the Flynn Chair in Christian Ethics at Mount Saint Mary's College, presented the 2001 Natural Law Lecture on April 19, 2001. After Professor Grisez's talk on "Natural Law, God, Religion and Human Fulfillment," those present heard responses by Rev. John Jenkins, C.S.C., Scott MacDonald, Peter Simpson and Robert George.

Also on April 19, Jim Gates, a member of the Kresge Law Library faculty from 1983 to 1986 and currently director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum Library in Cooperstown, New York, spoke on the myriad of functions performed by the Hall of Fame, addressed several of the legal concerns faced by this significant national institution, and showed those in attendance some of the museum's artifacts.

News from the Notre Dame Law Association

Paul Mattingly '75J.D. New President-Elect

At the spring 2001 meeting of the Notre Dame Law Association board of directors, board members elected Paul Mattingly '75J.D. as president-elect for 2001-02. He will succeed Charles A. Weiss '68J.D. as president for a one-year term commencing on July 1, 2002.

Paul joined the NDLA board in 1989 and has taken an active role in one of the board's most important efforts. As chair of the board's Public Interest Committee, he has worked with current NDLS students and with alumni around the country to establish a program of alumni-funded summer public-interest fellowships for students interested in service. The program, which began in the summer of 1998 with one fellowship recipient, has grown tremendously under his leadership. This summer, 10 students will work in public-interest positions in major cities around the U.S. with the help of alumni funding.

Paul is a partner at Dinsmore & Shohl, L.L.P., in Cincinnati, Ohio. His practice focuses on corporate, securities, franchise and business law matters, as well as mergers and acquisitions. He is married to Hon. Elizabeth B. Mattingly '75J.D. They are the parents of four children, the oldest of whom, Anne Marie, graduated from Notre Dame this spring with her B.S. in biology.

Alumni NotesNDLS Benefactor Named to Board of Trustees

Robert F. Biolchini '62, a partner at Stuart, Biolchini, Turner and Givray in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and a member of the Law School Advisory Council, has been elected to the University's Board of Trustees. He earned his J.D. from George Washington University in 1965. In addition to his law practice, he has served as a temporary appeals judge for the Oklahoma Supreme Court since 1991, and serves as president and chief executive officer of the PennWell Corporation, a family-owned media company that publishes 46 international weekly and monthly business-to-business magazines. A member of the PennWell board of directors and executive committee since 1976, he also serves as president and chief executive officer of two family-owned Internet companies, pennNET and PennEnergy.

In 1995, he and his wife Frances endowed the University's Biolchini Family Chair in Law, currently held by John Finnis. The Biolchins are the parents of six children, five of whom hold Notre Dame degrees.

Notre Dame Lawyers in U.S. Congress

Of the five Notre Dame alumni who won seats in the U.S. House of Representatives last November, two are NDLS graduates: Peter T. King '68J.D., who represents the Long Island area of New York and is also a member of the board of the Notre Dame Law Association; and Peter Visclosky, who represents Indiana's 1st congressional district in the northwest part of the state. Both congressmen joined fellow domers Mike Ferguson '92 of New Jersey, Tim Roemer '81M.A., who represents the South Bend area in Indiana's 3rd congressional district, and Mark Souder '74M.B.A. of Fort Wayne, Indiana, as well as Congresswoman Anne Northup (SMC '70) at the annual Capitol Hill Congressional Luncheon sponsored by the Notre Dame Club of Washington, D.C., on April 25, 2001.

Law Firm News

Daniel J. Manelli '57, '62J.D. has announced that his Washington, D.C., firm, formerly known as Farkas & Manelli, P.L.L.C., is now Manelli Denison & Selter, P.L.L.C. The firm's offices remain at his "M" Street address.

Steven A. Seall '66J.D., the managing partner of Barnes & Thornburg's South Bend office, has announced that the South Bend law firm of Roemer & Mintz merged with Barnes & Thornburg, effective May 1, 2001. Notre Dame lawyers making the move include Roemer & Mintz founding partner Chuck Roemer '53, '58J.D., Tim Abeska '82J.D., Greta Roemer Lewis '86, Jeanine Gozdecki '85, '92J.D., and Doug Anderson '89, '92J.D., all of whom will become partners at the merged firm, and associate Brien Crotty '98J.D.

Mark D. Boveri '85J.D. and John D. LaDue '90J.D., formerly with the South Bend office of Barnes & Thornburg, and Charles P. Rice '85, '88J.D. and Shawn P. Ryan '88, '91J.D., both formerly sole practitioners in South Bend, have formed Boveri Murphy Rice Ryan & LaDue, L.L.P., also in South Bend.

Condolences and Prayers

Frederick K. Baer '33, '36J.D., of South Bend, died March 27, 2001, in Arizona. Mr. Baer was born in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1910. He graduated from South Bend's Central High School and earned both his A.B. and his J.D. from Notre Dame. He enjoyed a distinguished career as city attorney for South Bend as well as in private practice, and served a term as president of the St. Joseph County Bar Association, during which time he received the National Award for Excellence by the American Bar Association. Mr. Baer also served on the board of directors of St. Joseph Bank and Trust Company, as chair of the board of directors of Avanti Motor Corporation, as director and incorporator of Action, Inc., as a board member of the Notre Dame Law Association, as a trustee of Healthwin Hospital and as a board member of several other charitable foundations. An avid art collector, Mr. Baer also served as a director of the Friends of the Snite Museum and as vice president of the South Bend Art Foundation. He also served on the acquisition committees of the Art Center, Inc., and the Snite Museum.

He also played a prominent leadership role in the local Jewish community, serving as president of the Jewish Community Council, president of the Jewish Federation of St. Joseph Valley, general chair of the Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign, first chair of the Jewish Federation Endowment Fund, president of B'nai B'rith Mamre Chapter, vice president and trustee of Temple Beth-El, where he belonged for over 50 years, trustee of B'nai Yisrael Synagogue and member of Sinai Synagogue.

Following World War II, Mr. Baer was appointed to the prosecution staff of the War Crimes Branch of the U.S. Army in Germany. He served as prosecuting attorney both in Nuremberg and at the Dachau Concentration Camp.

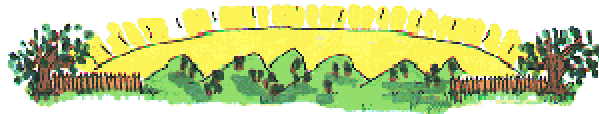

His wife Jeannette preceded him in death in 1997. He is survived by his son Douglas and daughter Lee Friend. Condolences may be sent to the family at 17849 Ashmont Place, South Bend, IN 46635.

George F. Engler '49J.D., of Hamburg, New York, died on May 10, 2001, after a long illness. Born and raised in the Buffalo area, Mr. Engler attended NDLS on the GI Bill after World War II and earned his law degree. After graduation, he worked for a Buffalo-area personal-injury firm and in 1955 was hired as an assistant probate clerk of the Surrogate Court. He served as deputy chief clerk of the court from 1973 to 1981, and was named chief clerk in 1981. He retired in 1994 after almost 40 years of service to the court. He had also served as president of the Erie County Civil Service Employees Association for seven years.

His first wife Marie preceded him in death in 1970. He is survived by his second wife, Eleanor, two daughters, Mary Roche and Kathy Hunt, two stepsons, Kenneth J. Campbell and Robert B. Campbell, a stepdaughter, Barbara A. Polok, and 22 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday, May 14, 2001, at St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Hamburg. Condolences may be sent to his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Engler, at S-5289 Roberts Road, Hamburg, NY 14075.

28th Annual BLSA Weekend Honors Alumni and Students

At the Black Law Students Association's 28th annual Alumni Weekend on April 6-8, 2001, alumni, faculty, administrators, staff and students had a wonderful opportunity to interact and hear from some outstanding speakers.

Highlights of the weekend included a panel discussion on Friday, April 6, featuring NDLS student Christopher Zorich '91, Honorable Willie G. Lipscomb Jr. '75J.D. of the 36th District Court in Detroit, Michigan, and Charles Asher, a South Bend attorney, speaking on "Reaching Back to Move Forward: The Value of Investing in Today's Youth." The panelists addressed the moral and ethical obligation that legal professionals have to give back to their respective communities through service to others. The panelists gave overviews of the various programs each has started to motivate children and young people toward the path to success:

On Saturday, BLSA alumni and students participated in a roundtable discussion regarding efforts to recruit, retain and graduate black students in order to maintain and build a strong BLSA alumni network. Saturday evening's dinner featured a keynote address by Honorable Anne Claire Williams '75J.D., of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, in which she told the inspiring story of her life and used her story to stress how the past of NDLS and the legal profession naturally join with the present to build a strong future for Notre Dame lawyers.

BLSA then honored the first black alumnus of NDLS, Alvin J. McKenna '66J.D., who is currently a partner at Porter, Wright, Morris & Arthur in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. McKenna recounted the challenges he faced in his life, and talked about the people who made it possible for him to achieve his success, beginning with the priests who ran his high school in New Orleans all the way through to former NDLS dean Joseph A. O'Meara, whose vision Mr. McKenna credits for opening up the Law School to African-Americans as well as women. In Mr. McKenna's honor, BLSA has renamed its alumnus/a of the year award after him.

Other awards presented at the dinner included the following:

- < Appreciation Awards to Tina Jankowski and Gail Peshel; BLSA also presented a special token of appreciation to Rebecca Ward, the Law School's receptionist and secretary.
- < Thurgood Marshall Award for Academic Achievement to Gail Navarro, a third-year law student from Austin, Texas.
- < Dwight King Excellence in Service Award to Qiana Lillard '98, a third-year student from Detroit, Michigan, who served as BLSA president for 2000-01 and is active in Big Brothers/Big Sisters.
- < Charles Crutchfield Professorial Excellence Award Assistant Professor of Law Richard W. Garnett.
- < Commitment Award to Associate Professor of Law Reverend D. Reginald Whitt, O.P.

The weekend concluded with a brunch at Tippecanoe Place in South Bend. Congratulations to weekend chair Myra McKenzie, a second-year law student from Slidell, Louisiana, who organized the weekend's events, and to the other BLSA members who served on various committees and brought about a wonderful weekend for alumni and students alike.
