A Little Lagniappe

Hello NDLS,

Week one of Zoom class down--WE DID IT! I hope your transition into this new form of law school is becoming somewhat better. I know it is still a difficult time for many, but NDLS is here for you!

Tbh, I welcomed the routine. No more just laying around wondering what I'm doing that day or worrying about what's happening in the world each hour. My schedule is now jam-packed with papers, class, and readings. Yes, I know I will soon regret saying this, but, for now, it's nice to have a purpose!

This time has also been wonderful for my family bonding. This is the longest amount of time we have all lived under the same roof together since I was in high school, so it's taken some readjusting. But our bonding peaked, last night, when we decided to have a themed dinner.

Yes, the theme was "Celebrities," and all 5 of us dressed to the nines in costumes portraying our best celebrity or movie character--all for us to sit, eat pizza, and watch American Idol. Don't worry, we of course captured it in individual and group pics which I have (with their permission, of course) shared with you all here!

Hello from Captain Jack Sparrow

Marty McFly

Sally Albright & Mia Thermopolis

and Hillary Clinton (sideways, bc the picture would NOT flip!)

Check back to see what next week's theme will be! Oh yeah, according to my sister, we're making this a weekly thing...

Can't wait till next Monday for more entertainment? Lucky for you, Professor Rick Garnett has provided this little gem from Father Mikes past...it's the Faculty Boy Band act! Trust me. You DEF want to see this!

That's all for this week. Just keep swimming, NDLS! Stay safe and wash your hands!

Until next time!

Stay Golden, NDLS

Questions, Comments, or Concerns?

Have questions regarding the Law School's policies and protocols for the remainder of the semester? Got any suggestions on how to better the process?

Below is a link to the FAQ Form sent to us by Dean O'Rear earlier this month.

**There is an option to submit comments anonymously. However, should you wish for the Administration to respond directly to your question, you must include your name and email.**

Thank you on behalf of the Administration and the Student Bar Association for any feedback you may provide to help better our system during this complicated time at the Law School!

Stay Connected...Spiritually!

During this difficult and uncertain time, let us answer Father Jenkins' call and continue "to strengthen one another by mutual support and prayer."

I have included in this section links to livestreams of different masses and prayer services for you to tune in! These are just a few I've been using and some my family members suggested.

If there's a particular service or link you'd like to share, do not hesitate to send it to mondaymorningupdate@gmail.com!

Never under estimate the power of prayer! Notre

Lend a Helping Hand

As students of NDLS we are called to be "a different kind of lawyer." One of the ways we live up to this profession is by service to our communities. What better time to help than now?!

Each week, I will include a compilation of links to charities across the country submitted by YOU the students! Send me links to get our efforts rolling! We're all sitting around on our phones all day any way (sorry professors!)--we might as well make ourselves useful!

Meals on Wheels and No Kid Hungry

"As you're well aware, these social distancing policies are taxing on all of us. But this is compounded for elderly people who may find it difficult to feed themselves, and low-income children who had been relying on school to provide one if not two meals a day. There are innumerable ways we, as Americans, can come together and look out for one another over the coming months as COVID-19 continues to upend our lives. These two giving options provide a concrete and meaningful way for those interested to contribute to the effort of fighting the virus and the harm it is causing in everyday people's lives. I know it is hard for us, as law students, to do anything meaningful since we are stuck at home, apart, and buried under the work of law school, so I thought providing an avenue to contribute would be in the spirit of the whole morale-boosting effort which is the MMU."--3L, Sawyer White

US Bartenders' Guild Emergency Grant Assistance Program

"Right now, bartenders can apply for grants in order to help make up for the shortfall due to them being laid off last week with restaurants closing. There is a link on the page to donate as well as a FAQ if anyone knows anyone who could benefit from it. Bartenders also don't need to be members of the guild to apply for this benefit. Thanks!"--2L, Cat Burns

Catch Up with NDLS

Corona Quarantine Check-in

With self-isolation as our new norm, keep in touch through the MMU! Hunkered down in South bend? Living the life at your parents' house? Send us a pic and a little blurb about where you're finishing out the rest of your Spring 2020 Semester.

Include your siblings, your pets, or even your parents--get creative!

Professor Kozel was happy to share a view from his at-home office (complete with his new co-worker!):

"For a view from my office, I've attached a photo of Ellie Rae Kozel, all of six weeks old, and wondering why no one ever seems to go anywhere. Big sisters Kate Marie (9) and Hannah Jo (5) are doing well, as is my wife Abi. As for me, I'm quite sure I've broken the world record for "Most Conference Calls Attended With Disney Music Overheard Faintly in the Background."

---

Pet Pics!

Since we're all working from home now it's "Bring your Pet to School Day" every day!

Send me pictures of your cat, dog, fish, hamster, rabbit, chicken, lizard, etc. with the pet's name and I'll share them with the world!

Pantalaimon & Roosevelt maybe all snuggled
in, but they are ready to learn some law!

Bailey, Duke, and Max are they very definition of good boys!

Doggie is tuckered out after a long day of Zooming in.

Sunny Venter says Go Irish!

Hi from Bernie! He's ready for class!

Maybel says don't forget to take a break from all your hard work!

Schuyler says keep up the good work!
