NDLS Running Club

The Athletics Committee of the SBA is putting together a NDLS Running Group. We are a community of people dedicated to supporting each other on our individual fitness goals. Life at law school can be stressful, and outdoor exercise is the perfect antidote. Our plan is to connect via fitness apps like Strava and social media where we can share our progress and cheer each other on. The group will provide regular emails with recommended running routes, race information, and training tips. We also have a number of ideas for virtual competitions. Once we've emerged from the pandemic, we plan to gather for in-person runs and post-run socializing.

If you're interested, sign-up to receive update emails here. All experience levels are encouraged to join. If you've never put on a pair of running shoes, but think you'd like to, we want to help you begin the journey. Feel free to reach out by email to eleis@nd.edu with any questions you may have.

Student Writing Contest

The Program on Church, State & Society at Notre Dame Law School is pleased to announce a writing competition on topics and questions related to the intersection of church, state, and society, and in particular how the law structures and governs that intersection. Find out more here. If you have any questions please contact Jon Hannah at Jonathan.Hannah.7@nd.edu.
