MONDAY MORNING
Update

Sponsored by:
Notre Dame Law School
Student Bar Association

This Week @ NDLS

The banner features a dark blue background with the words 'MONDAY MORNING' in large, white, serif capital letters. Below this, the word 'Update' is written in a white, cursive script font. A small green shamrock is positioned to the right of 'Update'. To the right of the main text, there is a circular logo for the Notre Dame Law School Student Bar Association, which includes a building illustration and the text 'NOTRE DAME LAW SCHOOL' and 'STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION'. Below the banner, the text 'This Week @ NDLS' is written in a bold, gold, sans-serif font.

General Announcements and Reminders

Crossings

Crossings is closed until further notice. However, the GrubHub app is a great way to see what's available on campus and order ahead for pickup. Download the app on your phone and select "Notre Dame" in the Campus Dining settings to see the options on campus; several are in easy walking distance of the Law School.

CDO

The CDO is still offering Walk-In Hours Monday through Friday, 12:45-4:45pm. What has changed is that you can't just walk into the CDO, but you can do them via Zoom, by clicking here or by using this URL: <https://notredame.zoom.us/j/95730218995>. The Meeting ID is 957 3021 8995.

As in the past, walk-ins are meant to be 15 minutes or less. If you would like to schedule a longer meeting, you can do so by clicking here, or via IrishLink. Or, you can call Heidi at 574-631-7542.

Free Professional Headshots

The Meruelo Family Center for Career Development is offering free professional headshots! Every Monday and Tuesday from now until the end of the semester, headshots will be offered from 11 a.m. to noon to graduate and undergraduate students. Wear your business professional attire and get your picture taken to use on online profiles, such as LinkedIn and professional websites. RSVP required. Sign up on Handshake.

Employment Opportunity: Research Assistant

The Kresge Law Library, Research & Teaching Team is hiring one 2L or 3L student for a part-time research assistant position. Responsibilities include assisting the research librarians and performing general law library duties including the following:

- Responding to requests from faculty and Law School committees.
- Helping with class preparation for legal research courses.
- Shelving library materials for 1 hour each week.

The position is 10 hours per week at $9.17 per hour. If you are interested or have further questions, please contact Susan Azyndar, 574-631-5993 or sazyndar@nd.edu
Submit your resume to Beth Klein at bklein@nd.edu by Monday, September 28th.

Writing Competitions

General Reminder: the Writing Competitions page in the Current Students section has a list of all competitions.

The International Section of the New York State Bar Association has announced the annual Albert S. Pergam International Law Writing Competition. The deadline for submission is 4:00 p.m. EST on Friday, November 6, 2020.

The International Section is comprised of approximately 1800 members of the New York State Bar Association (both American and foreign lawyers) who practice, or have an interest in, public and private international law. The writing competition, which began in 1988, fosters legal scholarship among law students in the field of international law. The competition is intended to encourage students of law to write on areas of public or private international law. It is the International Section's belief that by providing a forum for students to disseminate their ideas and articles, the professional and academic communities are enriched.

Furthermore, the competition presents an opportunity for students to submit law review quality articles to the Section for possible publication in one of its publications (i.e., New York International Law Review).

Law Students (including J.D., LL.M., Ph.D. and S.J.D. candidates) are cordially invited to submit to the International Section an article concerning any area of public or private international law or practice. Faculty members of any college or university are ineligible to participate. All submissions will be reviewed by a committee of attorneys practicing international law, and a winner will be chosen based on a variety of factors, including significance and timeliness of the subject matter, thoroughness of research and analysis, clarity of writing style, as well as the importance and originality of the topic to the understanding of private/public international law or comparative law.

The winner will receive:

- 1) $2,000 USD; and
- 2) Publication of the article (subject to editorial approval) in the New York International Law Review.

The rules are set forth on the following website: <https://nysba.org/awards-competitions/international-section-albert-s-pergam-international-law-writing-competition-award/>

Submissions should be sent to Carra Forgea at cforgea@nysba.org

A Message From the Editor ~Secretary~

Good Morning NDLS!

We lost a legal powerhouse in Associate Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg this weekend. She is one of the primary reasons the legal community and legal framework of this country is what it is today, and her unwavering drive and dedication to equality is a lesson we should all take time to contemplate and realize in our own careers and lives.

From Harvard to Columbia, academia to the judiciary, Justice Ginsburg made history for women in the legal profession. She said that Justice Sandra Day O'Connor told her that had they been born in a time without gender discriminating hurdles they would be retired partners from big law firms, not Associate Justices on the Supreme Court of the United States. There is something to be said about the grace and beauty of accepting where in history you have been born, and what your role can be there within. Maybe it's not trailblazing the rights and opportunities for an entire gender. Maybe it is. Each person's personal role and calling in this life is up to personal discernment. But pursuing that calling and purpose with such presence of mind and commitment is indeed a lesson to be learned from Justice Ginsburg.

My personal favorite lesson that Justice Ginsburg has always inspired in me comes from her famous friendship with Justice Scalia. I know at this point their friendship, deep and meaningful despite their ideological differences, has been used as an example of all that modern politics is not, but I think there is so much more there. A former clerk of Justice Scalia's has retold a story of Justice Scalia taking roses to his friend 'Ruth' for her birthday—the clerk cheekily asked the Justice when his friendship or those roses had ever gotten him a vote in a meaningful 5-4 decision. Justice Scalia replied that "Some things are more important than votes." So it's not that civility can be reached in the face of discord. It's that even in the face of discord, there are things greater—respect for the Court and our legal system, recognition that despite disagreeing how to do so each wanted the best for the law and our country, friendship, human dignity—and those things, if we allow them, will improve our own work and lives, and in turn the community around us.

Justice Ginsburg was famous for choosing her words carefully. Be it in her opinions or conversations, she did not waste energy, space, or words on things not worth saying or thought out. I think that—deliberateness—is a virtue that is often overlooked, and I encourage everyone to watch interviews, read stories, and understand her in her own words. Maybe then we too will go forward in our careers and lives with such purpose, whatever it may be, and poise.

1L OF THE WEEK

This week's 1L of the Week is Mitch Koppinger. He took time out of his relaxing, Netflixing Sunday evening. Buy him a coffee that y'all don't have to wait 55 minutes for.

Q: Where is your hometown?

A: I am from Port Huron, Michigan—about 45 minutes north of Detroit.

Q: Where did you attend undergrad?

A: I was a Finance Major here at Notre Dame. I was in Dunn Hall.

Q: What did you do this summer?

A: I was back in my hometown selling cars. We were completely shut down for three weeks, and then for another three we couldn't have anyone inside so all paper work had to be done outside on tailgates. But after all the people that wanted to buy cars in those six weeks came in and business was good.

Q: This game was a total blowout. How long did you actually watch for?

A: I did go to the game. They played for four so I stayed for four. From kick-off to the alma mater.

Q: What's the best thing to eat in your hometown?

A: Mama Vickie's Connie Island has an incredible Chef's Salad. Bill, Mama Vickie's husband, is from Greece and makes the thousand island dressing and its so good. I also get it with a milkshake.

Q: What's the worst event of 2020 so far?

A: Uh...I mean...that's a difficult question. The obvious answer is the Coronavirus with all of the sickness and death and economy shutdown. But on a more trivial note, the closing of Crossings. It's made getting coffee in the middle of the day really difficult. The Starbucks on campus is a 55 minute wait so it's almost better to walk to the Eddy Street one.

Q: Do you think Kanye is overrated?

A: I honestly haven't kept up with Kanye West since my early high school years when All of the Lights was big. I know he's been in the news lately because of some contract stuff, so I guess I should care about that as a law student.

*I'm taking that as a yes.

Q: Have you tried any of the local pizza yet? And why is Rocco's Combo the best?

A: I have tried Rocco's, but I would say that Tony Sacco's is better. On Thursdays they will do half-off pizza. Three of my roommates and I in undergrad would go there and get three large pizzas (pepperoni, bbq chicken, and sausage) and eat until we were full and still left with leftovers.

Q: My brother is also named Mitchell. Were you also bullied by being called 'Michelle'?

A: Yes, I have been called Michelle.

Q: Do you have anything else you'd like to say to all of your fans?

A: Oh boy, um. It's way cheaper to change your oil every 3000 miles than to buy a new engine.

Q: Who do you nominate to talk to me next week as the 1L of the Week?

A: Davis Lovvorn.

3LOL: Fon Bisalbutr

This week's 3LOL is the ever innovative Fon Bisalbutr. Born and raised in Bangkok, Thailand, Fon came to the US for undergrad at GW. Between her degree and starting law school, Fon worked with her brother and some friends to start a craft beer brewing company that is still kicking today. Do you have your own beer? Didn't think so. Unfortunately you cannot try Fon's beer currently unless you are in Thailand, but then again, that's just another reason in a long list of reasons to visit Thailand.

Fon potentially has a stomach of steal because while working her 1L summer in Beijing with fellow 3L Nick Osterman, the two of them patroned over 100 different restaurants but never once got sick. Nick got sick from food in the Philippines, but Fon came out of the summer unscathed. The real test will be if/when she visits India and tries their street food.

To get the most from your travels, Fon suggests you research and download the apps local to wherever it is you are visiting. Get to know the app beforehand, what it does and how to use it so that you can more easily navigate the area when you're there. To get the most from your time in law school, Fon suggests to take up the advice her mentor gave her—make sure you take time for enjoyment and friendship while in school. To do this, specifically, Fon suggests breweries, vineyards, and exploring the various bodies of water around this area. Also, apparently Fon may or may not also have an ice cream company, so ask her about that.
