THE NOTRE DAME LAW CLUB.

The officers of the Notre Dame Law Club for the present school year are as follows:

President, Joseph A. Laughlin, Grand Island, Nebraska; Vice-President, John P. Laughna, Grosse Point, Michigan; Treasurer, Joseph V. Kirincich, Joliet, Illinois; Secretary, John B. Crowe, South Bend, Indiana. Thomas Konop, Dean of the College of Law, is the faculty advisor.

The first meeting of the Club was held in the faculty dining hall on October 6. Dudley Shively, South Bend attorney, was the principal speaker. Mr. Shively's address concerned the very practical matter of office tactics and management. Since the speaker was basing his remarks on forty years of active practice he proved to be not only well qualified to give advice but also able to be entertaining while doing so.

Mr. Emery Smith, assistant state's attorney of Illinois, and Prof. Charles Wilson, of the Northwestern University Crime Detection Laboratories, addressed the Club at a meeting held on November 7. At this meeting members of the sociology classes of the University were guests of the Club.
