Dean Emeritus of University's Popular College Announces Donation of Fund to Provide Annual Prize.

Col. William Hoynea, dean emeritus of Notre Dame university's law school, which he founded and which bears his name, was honored last night at the first annual "Hoynea night" of the college of law.

The occasion was marked by the announcement of the Hoynea award, a prize of $100 to be awarded at each commencement to the graduate in law who has averaged highest in study, application, deportment, and achievement. The award has been established by Col. Hoynea to perpetuate the high principles and the Notre Dame spirit of courage, perseverance, trustworthiness, self-reliance, manliness and steadfast moral character which he has always tried to instill into the Notre Dame law students.

Only G. A. R. Survivor.

Col. Haynea was active dean of the college until 1913. He was a Knight of St. Gregory in 1912 and is the only surviving member of the Notre Dame post, G. A. R., which he also founded. Dean Thomas Konop spoke briefly at last night's meeting, and read the announcement of the Hoynea award. David Stanton, president of the Law club, presided at the general conyo-cation of the law students. Rev. George Finnegan, vice-president of the university, introduced Col. Hoynea.

On behalf of the students and faculty of the college of law, Lewis J. Murphy, senior in law, presented the following resolution, adopted unanimously:

"Whereas: We recognize the fact that Col. William J. Hoynea, the dean emeritus, is justly entitled to be considered the father and founder of the college of law of the University of Notre Dame and that a proper sense of veneration and gratitude for his loyal services in that behalf, his long and able conduct of the affairs of the college, and the pre-eminent virtues of his character and career as lawyer, teacher, patriot, and friend of the university, should find expression in public and permanent commemoration of his illustrious contribution to the up-building of the law school; and,

Annual Celebration.

"Whereas, We believe that an annual celebration of our admiration, affection and gratitude towards Col. Hoynea should be held, with exercises appropriate to the occasion, at which he shall be the honored guest and the faculty and students of the college of law shall have the opportunity to meet him, and to show the sentiments we so profoundly entertain towards him; now,

"Therefore, be it resolved, By the faculty and students of the college of law, now here for the first time assembled to pay honor and reverence to Col. Hoynea, that one night each year be set apart, preferably in the second semester, for a reception to the venerable founder of the law school, and for such exercises as may be appropriate to be known as "Hoynea Night," and that such anniversary shall be observed as a permanent function in the life of the college of law.

"Further resolved; That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to Col. Hoynea, and to the Notre Dame Lawyer, as well as other university publications."

OVID "OBSCENE POET."

Works are Barred From United States Mails by Official.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 19.—After the poems of Ovid have been in circulation for 2,000 years, Baltimore postoffice officials have just discovered that they should be barred from the United States mails as obscene. Accordingly, they have seized and sent to Washington an English translation of "The Love Books of Ovid," ordered for his own use by Dr. Kemp Malone, associate professor of English at Johns Hopkins university, from Cambridge, England.

The fact that the library of congress contains perhaps a dozen different translations of the same poems, that the Johns Hopkins library holds a shelf full of them, and that they are to be found in practically every college library has not affected the decision of C. H. Holton, head of the postal registry division here.

Dr. Malone was notified by letter that the volume had been seized. He wrote the postoffice department in Washington and has just received a formal acknowledgment of his letter, stating that its contents would be given consideration.

"PIGS IS PIGS."

Alimony is Alimony by Same Token in Opinion of Dentist.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—By the same token that pigs is pigs, alimony is alimony, in the opinion of Dr. Mark O. Davis, a dentist. Therefore, when he sends his former wife a check for $300 each month, he writes the word "alimony" across it in flaming red, according to a petition filed by Mrs. Davis in equity court here Thursday. Mrs. Davis asks that he be restrained from this practice, which she says is embarrassing to her.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Preston Wilson, of Indianapolis, who said he was a fugitive from justice on a burglary charge, was discharged in a magistrate's court to-day following receipt of a telegram from Indianapolis police that he was not wanted there.
