DEAN LINK ANNOUNCES PLANS TO GIVE UP HELM;
PROVOST APPPOINTS SEARCH COMMITTEE

In his widely distributed letter last week, Dean Link announced that he had asked the University to begin its search for his successor. Twenty-three years into his tenure as Dean—the longest such tenure of any current law-school dean, he will turn his attention to new projects, involving primarily research concerning professional ethics. Dean Link will do his work through a new research center, located in the Law School and dedicated to exploration of the legal profession as a healing one.

“I do not plan to retire from Notre Dame—ever,” Dean Link emphasized. But now is the time, he noted, to begin the search for new leadership, leadership that will take the School into the new millennium. How long it will take to secure the appropriate new leader for NDLS remains anyone’s guess; many law schools, including Catholic ones, already have such searches underway.

On August 28, University Provost Nathan Hatch met with the faculty to discuss the Dean Search. After praising Dean Link for his loyalty, leadership, and service, Professor Hatch noted that other occasions will provide for elaboration on the Dean's many achievements. Professor Hatch then discussed his hopes and expectations regarding the next Dean. He also announced his appointment of the following members of the Law School faculty to the Search Committee: Gerry Bradley, Tex Dutile, Alan Gunn, Carol Mooney, and Jay Tidmarsh. Professor Hatch will chair the Committee. The University’s Academic Articles charge the President, Father Malloy, with actual appointment of the new dean.

NDLS WELCOMES NEW CLASS

The Law School community welcomed the class of 2001 on August 22. The 185 members of the class hail from forty different states and three foreign countries, and represent 119 undergraduate schools. Women constitute 44.6% of the class.

Work experiences and leadership in volunteer efforts are significant among the members of the class. One has worked among the Cheyenne, another with Hispanic immigrants, yet another with the handicapped. Ten years in the military, two years with the ACE program, service in the Jesuit Volunteer Corps, and work with the homeless are just a few of the many experiences of class members. Two members of the class became new fathers of daughters just a few days prior to the dads’ enrollment at Notre Dame.

NORM BARRY,
NDLS ADVISORY COUNCIL MEMBER, DIES

Norman J. “Jack” Barry, NDLS ‘48, a member of the Advisory Council of NDLS, and a partner at Rothschild, Barry & Myers, in Chicago, died June 27 at Vencor Hospital Chicago Central. Jack, who did his undergraduate work at Notre Dame as well, became involved in several high-profile cases, including litigation involving McDonnell Douglas Corporation in connection with two major airline crashes, and separate litigation involving a 1977 elevated train crash in which eleven people lost their lives.

A Chicago native, Jack played football at Fenwick High School, earning selection to the Chicago High School All-Star Football Team. From 1939 through 1943, he played end under Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy. In 1952, he founded his own firm with the current Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens and Ed Rothschild.

The Chicago Tribune noted Mr. Barry’s reputation as “a tough competitor in the courtroom,” but also as “soft-hearted at his core.” Thirty years ago, he and Rothschild began a program to provide minority scholarships for students at NDLS. Mr. Barry’s benefaction, in honor of his father, made possible the Norman J. Barry Courtroom at NDLS.

Mr. Barry is survived by his son, Norman Barry, Jr., NDLS ’75 and a partner at Baker & McKenzie, in Chicago. He, his father, and his grandfather all played football at Notre Dame and earned their law degree there.

The late Mr. Barry is also survived by his wife of fifty-two years, Joan; another son, Kevin; two daughters, Mary Beth Hogan and Kathleen Daigler; twelve grandchildren; and a sister. A funeral Mass took place on July 1 at Old Saint Patrick’s Church in Chicago. This great friend of Notre Dame and of the Law School will be sorely missed. Our thoughts and prayers go out to him and all the Barry family.

ROSEMARIE NIXON TO CLERK FOR
U.S. SUPREME COURT

For the third time in three years a Notre Dame Law School graduate has been appointed to a Supreme Court clerkship. Rosemarie Nixon, NDLS ’98, will begin clerking for Chief Justice William Rehnquist in the 1999 Term after first serving for a year as a clerk to Judge James Loken of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit. Nixon follows Anthony Bellia, Jr., NDLS ’94, who just completed a clerkship under Justice Antonin Scalia, and Amy Coney, NDLS ’97, who will clerk for Scalia in the upcoming term. Nixon and Coney ranked first in their respective graduating classes.

“We're really proud of our recent successes in placing Notre Dame lawyers into prestigious Supreme Court clerkships,” said Dean Link. “It's gratifying that our students increasingly earn the opportunity to serve at the pinnacle of the federal judiciary.”

for Burger in 1978.

In addition, Richard Garnett, who clerked for Rehnquist in 1997, and Nicole Stelle Garnett, who will clerk for Justice Clarence Thomas in the 1998 term, have been appointed to NDLS faculty positions and will begin teaching next year.

"Supreme Court clerkships are the single most prestigious position that a recent law school graduate can be offered," Schiltz said. "Every year, hundreds of the best graduates from the best law schools apply for just thirty-four positions. The vast majority of the clerkships go to the graduates of Harvard, Yale and a few other elite schools. For a law school the size of Notre Dame (with just 175 students per class) to have three graduates clerk at the Supreme Court in three years is virtually unheard of." Supreme Court Justices each hire four clerks, except Rehnquist and Justice John Paul Stevens, who choose to hire just three.

ROGER JACOBS HONORED

Professor Roger F. Jacobs, Associate Dean and Director of the Kresge Law Library, was honored by the Canadian Association of Law Libraries/Association Canadienne des Bibliothèques de Droit at its Thirty-Fifth Annual meeting, held in Hamilton, Ontario, May 31-June 3. While Director of the University of Windsor Faculty of Law Library, and the seventh president of the Association from 1971-73, Jacobs was instrumental in moving the Canadians from a regional chapter of the American Association of Law Libraries to an independent national association. Today, with almost 500 active members, CALL/ACBD has become a major force in the development, delivery and preservation of legal information across Canada.

DEAN ANNOUNCES PERSONNEL CHANGES

Dean Link announced several significant changes in assignments among faculty and staff. Jimmy Gurulé has become Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. He replaces Jack Pratt, who will spend the 1998-99 academic year on research leave in Galway, Ireland. Jack carries with him the deep gratitude of the entire Notre Dame community for his efficient, thorough, and compassionate work as Associate Dean over the past six years. On July 8, a party honoring both Jack and Jimmy took place in the Student Lounge of the Law School.

Tina Jankowski has assumed the position of Senior Administrative Assistant in the Deans' Office on the first floor. Marilyn Imus has assumed the duties of Senior Administrative Assistant in the Center for Civil and Human Rights, replacing Tina there. Finally, Dean Link has asked Gerri Lehmkuhl to serve as Administrative Assistant in his office. A part-time assistant in that office will soon be chosen.

LISA BOLANZ APPOINTED DIRECTOR OF CAREER SERVICES
Dean Link has appointed Lisa Bolanz Director of Career Services at the Law School. Her appointment took effect on July 1, following the resignation of Kitty Hoye as Director of Career Services and Law School Relations.

Lisa did her undergraduate work in Comparative Religion at Harvard. While at Harvard, she also completed significant course work in Psychology. She became Assistant Director of CSO in June 1996. She brought to that position a year's experience in Human Resources, another year's experience running a resumé agency that serviced most of Harvard's law students, and two years' experience in publishing/marketing. During her third year in law school, she worked half-time in the CSO, where she wrote the weekly newsletter, did some counseling, and helped with statistics as well as day-to-day functions. She was promoted to Associate Director in 1997.

Lisa looks to continue the dramatic progress that she, under Kitty Hoye's direction, brought to the Office. Last year, on-campus interviews rose 25%; this year, they will rise 15% above last year's. The class of 1997 boasted the highest six-month employment rate in recent history--98.4%.

Lisa was instrumental in establishing a Mock Interview Program and workshops on resumés and interviewing. She has brought in many speakers and arranged many presentations. She said, "We in the CSO continue to stress education and empowerment, putting great emphasis on individual counseling and skill-building. I consider myself a detailer of Maserattis." Congratulations and best wishes, Lisa!

CATHY PIERONEK

APPOINTED HEAD OF

LAW SCHOOL RELATIONS

Dean Link has appointed Cathy Pieronek as Director of Law School Relations. The appointment took effect July 1. Cathy succeeds Kitty Hoye, who earlier had announced her resignation as Director of Career Services and Law School Relations.

Cathy was graduated from Notre Dame with a Bachelor of Science in aerospace engineering in 1984. She worked as a Systems Engineer with TRW in Redondo Beach, California, and in Cocoa Beach, Florida, for eight years. Her work addressed NASA's Compton Gamma Ray Observatory Space Craft. Her performance earned her promotion to Senior Staff Engineer. While working full-time at TRW, she earned her M.S. in aerospace engineering in 1987 from UCLA.

In the fall of 1992, she returned to Notre Dame to enter its Law School, from which she was graduated magna cum laude. She became Associate Director for law-school relations in 1996. The Office of Law School Relations, though relatively new, has become a real force in the life of the Law School, thanks largely to Cathy and the able direction of Kitty Hoye. The Notre Dame Lawyer has grown into a stylish magazine from its recent origins as a folded-page newsletter. The office has coordinated CLE programs, hosted alumni receptions at bar-association meetings, coordinated work with local alumni clubs, overseen the production of all law-school recruitment publications, and represented the Law School in dealings with the University's public relations and development offices, and with the executive director of the Notre Dame Law Association. Congratulations, Cathy, and best wishes!

HEATHER McSHAIN

WINS WRITING AWARD

Heather McShain, a third-year student at NDLS, took First Prize in the prestigious Howard C. Schwab Memorial Essay Contest in the field of Family Law. Her piece, written under the direction of Eric Smithburn, addressed the recent covenant marriage statutes. It will be published this fall in Family Law Quarterly, the scholarly journal of the Family Law Section of the American Bar Association. Congratulations, Heather and Eric!

JACK SANDNER HONORED

YET AGAIN

Jack Sandner, NDLS '68, member of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees, and special policy advisor to the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME), received the prestigious Horatio Alger Distinguished American Award on April 24. According to the Merc, Jack "is the first individual from the financial market to join the ranks of national heroes and past . . . award recipients," like Bob Hope, Colin Powell, and Henry Kissinger. Andrew J. McKenna, who chairs ND's Board of Trustees, received the award in 1993.

Jack was graduated from Southern Illinois University. After leaving NDLS and practicing law for a period of time, he bought a seat on the CME with borrowed money. Ultimately, he served as CME's chair and helped establish it as a "global financial force." This latest honor reflects "the hope and inspiration (provided) to young people through hard work, honesty, determination and compassion."

Jack and his wife Carole have adopted seven children--four boys and three girls--ranging in age from twenty-nine down to seven. This year Jack completes his eleventh consecutive two-year term on the CME Board. No one has served more than the thirteen years that Jack has as chair of the CME Board.

NDLS ALUM APPOINTED

TO SUPERIOR COURT

Jenny Pitts Manier, NDLS '85 and currently general counsel for Lt. Governor Joe Kernan, has been appointed a judge in the St. Joseph Superior Court. Her term will extend through the year 2000. Appropriately enough, she will replace another NDLS alum, Judge Jeanne Jourdan, NDLS '75, who recently announced her retirement.

Governor Frank O'Bannon selected Manier from among a field of five finalists chosen by the St. Joseph Superior Court Judicial Nominating Commission. Said O'Bannon: "Jenny Manier has dedicated her entire career to public service, and this appointment is a natural extension of this service."

Judge Manier worked in the South Bend City Attorney's Office from 1988 through 1996. She became Chief Assistant City Attorney in 1990. Her experience includes service on the Board of Public Works and as attorney for the Redevelopment Commission and the Human Rights Commission.

After her graduation from NDLS, she served as staff attorney for the Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana. Judge Manier did her undergraduate work, as well as her law work, at Notre Dame.

NDLS HOSTS

COLLOQUIUM ON

LEGAL WRITING
During the last week of July, under the direction of Terry Phelps, the Law School and the Center for Continuing Education hosted a colloquium for legal-writing teachers. Each day of the colloquium provided a different speaker lecturing on some area related to legal writing/discourse theory.

The colloquium provides legal-writing teachers with an intensive week of immersion in the substantive nature of legal writing. Quoth Terry, "My hope is that the twenty-five participants will leave not only with ideas to enrich their teaching, but also with valuable seeds for their own writing and research."

Our own Tom Shaffer joined Professor Lisa Ede, of Oregon State's English Department, Professor Martha Nussbaum, of the University of Chicago Law School, and Professor L.H. LaRue, of Washington & Lee's Law School, as presenters. Twenty-five legal-writing teachers participated in the four-day event.

RICHARD SLAWSON
WINS PROFESSIONAL
AWARD IN FLORIDA

Richard Slawson, NDLS '70 and senior partner at Slawson Cunningham Whalen & Stewart, in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida, received the B.J. Masterson Award for professionalism on June 26. The Academy of Florida Trial Lawyers made the presentation at its Annual Convention in Orlando. The award honors Mr. Slawson for "his high degree of ethical professionalism during his legal career."

Mr. Slawson has practiced law in Palm Beach County for twenty-seven years. For twelve years he held leadership positions in the Academy, the Tallahassee-based
SBT ARTICLE
FEATURES NDLS GRAD

Heath Weaver, NDLS ‘98, was featured in an article in the South Bend Tribune on June 14. Weaver, who dropped out of Adams High School but recently returned to teach a street-law course and coach the mock-trial team, received an honorary diploma at recent graduation ceremonies there. Following service in the army, Weaver received his bachelor’s degree from Indiana University at South Bend.

The article set out how several students at Adams gained inspiration from Weaver’s own story. His high-school education was completed in the Army through a General Educational Development diploma. He passed on his first try, without studying or other preparation. In the article, Weaver pointed out that the Adams students gave him inspiration, as well.

NDLS HOSTS RECEPTION IN CONNECTION WITH ABA ANNUAL MEETING

On August 2, the Law School, in cooperation with the Notre Dame Law Association, hosted a reception for Notre Dame alumni, students and friends. The reception took place in connection with the Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association in Toronto. The Royal Ontario Museum served as the striking site for the event. Dave Link represented Notre Dame and addressed the guests. Cathy Pieronek made all the arrangements.

JUDGE JOHN LEAHY RETires AFTER
TWENTY-THREE YEARS ON BENCH

John Leahy, NDLS ‘64, retired from judicial service on March 31. His retirement caps twenty-three years as a judge.

Raised in Evanston, Illinois, he was graduated from Notre Dame in 1959. He earned his law degree at NDLS after two years of active duty in the Navy. As a law student, he worked for the athletic department and lived in the football stadium.

Always active in Notre Dame alumni affairs, Leahy practiced law in Chicago for two years before setting out for California in 1968. He served one term as councilman in Carson, California. In 1974, he was appointed a Compton Municipal Court traffic commissioner; appointment as a court commissioner came a year later. In 1978 Governor Jerry Brown appointed Leahy to the Compton Municipal Court. Without opposition, he was elected to an open Los Angeles Superior Court seat in 1990.

Judge Leahy plans to move to the Lake Arrowhead residence he and his wife recently purchased. He will remain available for judicial assignments.
JOE ROSENFELD TO JOIN SHERWIN-WILLIAMS IN CLEVELAND

On May 26 Joe Rosenfeld left Notre Dame for his new position in the IT Department of the Sherwin-Williams Company, in Cleveland. Over the past three-and-a-half years, Joe has contributed immensely to the developing sophistication of computers in the Law School. He created our law-school network, he supervised the expansion and enhancement of our student computer lab, and he marshaled, installed, and maintained the growing number of computer work stations essential to the Law School’s mission. Virtually all of us who work in this building individually profited, at one time or another, from his uncanny genius in solving whatever glitch beset our computer hardware or software. All of us express our gratitude to him and wish him great success.

NEWS FROM THE LAW LIBRARY

Roger Jacobs chaired the ABA Section of Legal Education and Admission to the Bar’s team that conducted a sabbatical site inspection of the J. Reuben Clark Law School of Brigham Young University. He also served as a special Association of American Law Schools (AALS) fact finder in discussions between the AALS and a member law school. In January, he chaired the meeting of the Library Committee of the ABA Section of Legal Education and Admission to the Bar, in San Francisco. He also completed his service as chair of the Constitutional Revision Committee of the Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities Law Library Consortium, of which Notre Dame is an associate member, by reporting on amendments adopted by the Consortium in January.

Roger Jacobs has announced the appointment of Susan Good to the Law School Computing Staff as a new Technical-Support Consultant/Analyst. Working with Dan Manier, Manager of Law-School Computing, Susan is primarily responsible for support of academic software, documentation writing, one-on-one training, and consultation with end-users. In addition, Susan can be called upon for diagnosis and trouble-shooting with regard to hardware problems.

Susan spent the last ten years as a computer technical support assistant in the First Year of Studies. She earned her B.B.A. in accountancy at Notre Dame and an Associate’s Degree in Business Administration at St. Petersburg Junior College. Welcome, Susan, to the Law School Community!

Sue Wiegand has accepted a professional librarian’s position for reference and instruction at Valparaiso University’s Moellering Library. Sue completed her master’s in library science last year.

During her two years at NDLS, Sue contributed significantly to the Kresge Law Library. Her knowledge and assistance in automating our circulation operations proved invaluable and her steady presence for student and faculty will be missed. Thanks, Sue, for your good work here, congratulations on your new position, and best wishes for the years ahead.

Amy Shirk has joined the staff of the Law Library. She will work in Access Services, filling the position recently vacated by Sue Wiegand. Amy comes to us with several years' experience in retail services. Welcome, Amy!

NEWS FROM THE

LEGAL AID CLINIC

The Immigration Clinic handled thirty-eight new clients since January of this year. The client roster provided an international flair: eighteen of our clients were from Mexico, five from Central and South America, and seven from Africa, including Rwanda, Burundi, Nigeria and Kenya. The Clinic also helped people from Poland, Hungary, and Iran.

Student interns saw a lot more of the court in Chicago this semester. The Clinic successfully tried three asylum cases and two suspension-deportation cases. Anastasio Tonello gets the award for the most experienced trial attorney this semester.

Spanish was the most popular language used in the Clinic this semester, with French a close second. Three Notre Dame undergraduates helped the Clinic. Dory Mitros, a freshman but three-year veteran (having worked with us for her high-school service project) manned the front desk and kept the paperwork and student interns in order; Rebecca Hamel, a junior, served as our Spanish translator; and Megan Ferstenfeld, a graduating senior working through an internship in the Government Department, translated and helped put together clients' affidavits in asylum cases.

Barbara Szweda was a guest on the radio program “Friends of the Library,” with Peter Lombardo. The topic: the new immigration law and its impact.

Barbara and Mary Jo Loranger, NDLS ’96, manned the Spanish telephone lines on the St. Joseph County Bar Association’s “Ask-A-Lawyer” television show, which included other NDLS grads Michael G. Gotsch, NDLS ’87, Mike Barnes, NDLS ’73, Debra Voltz-Miller, NDLS ’89, Kenneth P. Cotter, NDLS ’90, Rochelle S. Myers, NDLS ’95, and Elizabeth Baird Hurley, NDLS ’95. Barbara spent July totally immersed in Spanish in Cuernavaca “so that I can speak the language my clients use.”

On July 17, Bob Blakey testified before the House Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Crime, concerning proposed amendments to RICO.

Bob spent most of the summer (May, June & July) in sunny Arizona; he taught Federal Criminal Law at the Law School of the University of Arizona, in Tucson. The rest of the summer he spent in round two of the tobacco wars. In round one, he had worked with the attorneys- general of Florida and Texas in designing their successful RICO suits against the industry, which settled at the billion-dollar level.

The ABA Journal recently featured an article, in which Bob was prominently mentioned, concerning legal fees in the Texas and Florida litigation. At least, Bob says, “They spelled my name correctly!”

This summer, Bob also argued in behalf of Taft-Hartley funding that provides health and welfare benefit to workers throughout the nation; forty-some suits have been filed to recover for smoking-related medical costs. Bob argued for the funds in Texas, Ohio, New Jersey, and Kentucky; he will make one other argument in New Mexico this fall. So far only one court has handed down its opinion: in New Jersey Bob’s arguments won, though the Court seemed skeptical, he says, that Bob could prove his allegations.

Bob will also argue a case this fall in the U.S. Supreme Court. Humana Inc. v. Forsyth deals with whether the McCarran-Ferguson Act, which addresses the relationship between state and federal laws covering "the business of insurance," preempts civil RICO. Guess which side Bob is arguing?

Judge Sandy Brook and Tom Singer, both adjunct profs at NDLS, will make up the faculty of a one-day workshop entitled “Mastering Indiana Evidence.” The event, sponsored by NITA, will take place at the Hyatt Regency in Indianapolis on September 25.
Paolo Carozza spent the month of May as a visiting professor at the University of Trent in Italy, where he taught an intensive seminar on international human-rights and comparative law.

Bill Hoye, concurrent associate prof at NDLS and Associate Vice-President and General Counsel of the University, wrote, along with NDLS student William Hahn, Beyond The Camel’s Nose: Institutional Liability for Peer Sexual Harassment. The piece has been accepted for publication by the South Carolina Law Review.

On June 26, Kent Hull, adjunct prof at NDLS and a lawyer at Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana, served on the faculty of a program entitled “Recent Developments in Long Term Care.” The Indiana Continuing Legal Education Forum presented the conference at its facility in Indianapolis.

Cathy Kaveny published Managed Care, Assisted Suicide, and Vulnerable Populations, in the Notre Dame Law Review.

Bill Kelley worked with Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr over the summer, helping on briefs and with moot courts.

Terry Phelps presented a paper entitled “Empowering Your Legal Writing Students,” at the biennial conference of the Legal Writing Institute, June 18, in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Terry presented a talk, “Theories of Legal Interpretation,” at the Notre Dame Colloquium on Legal Discourse, July 30.
