BOOKS RECEIVED

THE CAMPUS PRESS: FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY. By Julius Duscha and Thomas C. Fischer. The authors outline the history and development of the campus press, with an analysis of similarities and differences between the campus press and the general press. The work also presents a comprehensive historical and legal perspective on freedom of speech and freedom of the press especially as relevant to the campus press. Washington, D.C.: American Association of State Colleges and Universities. 1973. Pp. 115. Paper, $2.50.

CASES AND MATERIALS ON ENVIRONMENTAL LAW, Second Edition. By Oscar S. Gray. While an excellent source book, Professor Gray's work would be equally good for general classroom use only if it were condensed and edited considerably. Washington, D.C.: The Bureau of National Affairs, Inc. 1973. Pp. xxii, 1420. $19.50.

COURTS: REPORT OF THE NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMISSION ON CRIMINAL JUSTICE STANDARDS AND GOALS, TASK FORCE ON COURTS. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Government Printing Office. 1973. Pp. xxi, 358. Paper, $3.95.

LA DOCUMENTATION JURIDIQUE: REFERENCES ET ABBREVIATIONS. By Ernest Caparros and Jean Goulet. An excellent Canadian citator, which although written in French, promises to be of great utility to those who choose to write in English as well. Québec: Les Presses de L'Université Laval. 1973. Pp. x, 182. $5.95 (Canadian).

FEDERAL JURISDICTION: A GENERAL VIEW. By Henry J. Friendly. New York: Columbia University Press. 1973. Pp. 199. $10.00.

HOW THE GOVERNMENT BREAKS THE LAW. By Jethro K. Lieberman. Contending that the greatest lawbreaker in the United States is not an ordinary citizen but is the Government itself, the author exposes public officials who talk of law and order but allegedly twist, subvert, ignore, misunderstand and thwart the law successfully. Baltimore: Penguin Books, Inc. 1973. Pp. 309. Paper, $1.95.

HOW TO COST YOUR LABOR CONTRACT. By Michael H. Granof. Washington, D.C.: The Bureau of National Affairs, Inc. 1973. Pp. x, 147. $10.00.

MARITAL PROPERTY. By Ian F. G. Baxter. In an attempt to fill the void in family law literature, Professor Baxter has written an excellent reference text dealing with various aspects of property relations between husband and wife. Rochester, N.Y.: The Lawyers Co-operative Publishing Company. 1973. Pp. xxix, 640. $35.00.

MILITARY LAWYERS, CIVILIAN COURTS AND THE ORGANIZED BAR. By F. Raymond Marks. A case study of the unauthorized practice dilemma. Chicago: American Bar Foundation. 1972. Pp. 80. Paper, $1.50.

THE NEW RED BARN: A CRITICAL LOOK AT THE MODERN AMERICAN PRISON. By William G. Nagel. A reevaluation of federal, state and local priorities as related to prisons and prison reform. The author calls for a moratorium on all correctional construction, based on his disagreement with the traditional attitude that incarceration is the best response to antisocial behavior, suggesting innovations based on the principle that reintegration of the prisoner into the community should be the goal of contemporary corrections. New York: Walker and Company. 1973. Pp. 198. $12.50.

THE PEOPLE'S LAWYERS. By Marlise James. The author presents a comprehensive history of the individuals and organizations who have come together to form the people's law movement, told mostly in the words of the people who are central to this history. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston. 1973. Pp. xxii, 368. $8.95.

PERSONAL INJURY ANNUAL—1973. Edited by Louis R. Frumer and Marilyn Minzer. New York: Matthew Bender Company. 1973. Pp. xxvi, 905.

THE POLITICS OF FEDERAL JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION. By Peter Graham Fish. The author examines the structure and legislative history of the various institutions of the federal judicial administration, their development, and their operation, focusing on the lower courts to show that the federal judicial administration is characterized by informality and voluntarism and depends on the roles played by individual judges. Princeton: Princeton University Press. 1973. Pp. xiv, 528. Cloth, $20.00; Paper, $9.75.

PRIMER ON THE LAW OF MERGERS: A GUIDE FOR BUSINESSMEN. By Earl W. Kintner. The former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission deals primarily with the antitrust aspects, as opposed to the tax considerations, of mergers. New York: The Macmillan Company. 1973. Pp. x, 530. $12.95.

PSYCHOANALYSIS AND THE LAW. By C. G. Schoenfeld. This book is an effort to synthesize psychoanalysis and the law, an attempt to apply the discoveries of Sigmund Freud and his followers to the law to gain new insights regarding it, facilitate improvements in it, and help to resolve some of its basic problems. Springfield, Illinois: C. C. Thomas, Publisher. 1973. Pp. ix, 283. $13.75.

RACE, RACISM AND AMERICAN LAW. By Derrick A. Bell, Jr. Boston: Little, Brown and Company. 1973. Pp. xliii, 1087.

RECORDS, COMPUTERS, AND THE RIGHTS OF CITIZENS: REPORT OF THE SECRETARY'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON AUTOMATED PERSONAL DATA SYSTEMS. By the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Government Printing Office. 1973. Pp. xxxv, 346. Paper, $2.35.

THE RELEVANT LAWYERS. Edited by Ann Fagan Ginger. This book attempts to cut through the often erroneous mystique with which people surround lawyers by presenting lawyers' out-of-court conversations on their clients, their practice, their politics and their life-styles. New York: Simon and Schuster. 1972. Pp. 447. $9.95.

SELECTED READINGS: JUDICIAL DISCIPLINE AND REMOVAL. Edited by Glenn R. Winters. Chicago: The American Judicature Society. 1973. Pp. viii, 145. Paper.

TALMUDIC LAW AND THE MODERN STATE. By Moshe Silberg. Translated by Ben Zion Bokser. New York: The Burning Bush Press. 1973. Pp. xiii, 224. $7.95.

UNDERSTANDING THE NEW FEDERAL RULES OF EVIDENCE. By Paul F. Rothstein. In this overpriced book, Professor Rothstein does little more than restate the Advisory Committee's Notes which are contained in the new Federal Rules of Evidence. New York: Law Journal Press. 1973. Pp. vii, 140 (a 167-page appendix contains the Rules of Evidence along with the Advisory Committee's Notes). $23.00.

THE WATERGATE HEARINGS: BREAK-IN AND COVER-UP. By The New York Times. Proceedings of the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities and commentary. New York: Bantam Books, Inc. 1973. Pp. viii, 886. Paper, $2.50.

WHO RULES THE POLICE? Edited by Leonard Ruchelman. Drawing on a range of reading selections, Professor Ruchelman examines the implications of new police activism on the political system. His basic interest is to gauge police behavior from the perspective of civil accountability and control. New York: New York University Press. 1973. Pp. x, 288. $11.95.

Pages 237-240 are Intentionally Blank.
