Contributors to the November Issue/The College of Law

Edmund L. Moriarty

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarship.law.nd.edu/ndlr
Part of the Law Commons

Recommended Citation
Edmund L. Moriarty, Contributors to the November Issue/The College of Law, 8 Notre Dame L. Rev. 81 (1932).
Available at: http://scholarship.law.nd.edu/ndlr/vol8/iss1/5

This Introduction is brought to you for free and open access by NDLScholarship. It has been accepted for inclusion in Notre Dame Law Review by an authorized administrator of NDLScholarship. For more information, please contact lawdr@nd.edu.
CONTRIBUTORS TO THE NOVEMBER ISSUE

Max Isaac, formerly Referee in Bankruptcy in the Southern District of Georgia; Secretary-Treasurer of the National Association of Federal Practitioners (organized in Washington in May, 1932); Editor of the American Bankruptcy Review. Published: Facts About Bankruptcy (1928); Conditional Sales in Bankruptcy (1905); and Isaac on Homestead Waivers and Assignments. Recently revised Complete Bankruptcy Law Annotated.

Roland Obenchain, A. B., 1914, Valparaiso University; LL. B., 1915, Yale University. Attorney for the School City of South Bend, Indiana. Author of The Roman Law of Bankruptcy, 3 Notre Dame Lawyer, 169. Practicing law with Jones, Obenchain & Butler, South Bend, Indiana.

W. D. Rollison, Professor of Law, University of Notre Dame.

THE COLLEGE OF LAW

REGISTRATION: Despite the general dearth of funds this year, brought about by the nation wide depression, registration in the College of Law has shown a marked increase over the 1932 figures. All told, there are 163 students registered this year, as compared with an enrollment of 144 for last year. The number registered for the year 1932-33, according to the various groups, is as follows: First year 89; second year 34; third year 33; special students 4. In addition to these, one senior in Commerce and two in the College of Arts and Letters are taking law courses for their electives.

THE LAW CLUB: As in the past, the Law Club will undoubtedly be one of the most active organizations on the campus. In the president's chair is Joseph Deeb, whose home state is Michigan. Deeb has served in many executive capacities during his years at Notre Dame, and at one time, guided the destinies of the Grand Rapids Club and the President's Council. Under his leadership, the Law Club is looking forward to a banner year. Patrick Cook is vice-president of the organization, with Thomas McKevitt and Joseph Foley filling the offices of secretary and treasurer respectively.

President Deeb has outlined a very extensive program for the club this year, which will be featured by monthly addresses by prominent barristers and well known speakers from the Indiana Bar Association and surrounding districts. The purpose of these monthly conclaves is not only to promote fellowship and close harmony between faculty and students, but also to present many outstanding opinions on the vital issues in our country today, as well as valuable and instructive points to the potential lawyer.

The inaugural meeting was a huge success and very well attended. Those who were fortunate enough to be present were rewarded by the truly worth while address given by the principal speaker of the evening, Judge Lenn Oare, a member of the Indiana State Board of Bar Examiners. Judge Oare gave a detailed and statistical description of the bar examination as is given to the candidates for the bar in Indiana. His pointed address was indeed instructive as well as interesting, and the assembled members of the Law Club left the meeting with a finer knowledge and appreciation of the requirements for the passing of the examination.

Following a short address of welcome by President Deeb, Dean Konop gave a short talk, and a second welcome to the incoming freshmen. The Dean's words summarized just what is expected of the members of the Law School, and the qualifications necessary for success.

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETING: The thirty-sixth meeting of the Indiana State Bar Association was held at Notre Dame on the 7th and 8th of July, 1932. The first meeting was called to order by President Frank N. Richman, and after the invocation by the Reverend Elmer Ward Cole of South Bend, short addresses of welcome were given by the Reverend Michael A. Mulcaire C. S. C., Vice-President of the University of Notre Dame and Judge Orlo Deahl of the South Bend Bar. The general business of the meeting was then begun, and included reports of the past year, proposals of amendments to the Indiana State Constitution, condemnation of various practices now prevalent in the state, and a discussion of plans for the coming year. Frank H. Hatfield, of Evansville, Indiana, was elected president of the Association, to succeed the retiring monitor, Frank N. Richman.

Edmund L. Moriarty.